

Says Budget Boosts Need Higher Taxes

Ike Emphasizes Need for Staying Within His Figures

Washington—President Eisenhower today called on congress to provide for higher taxes in every spending bill which would unbalance his $77 billion budget.

Eisenhower told a news conference he is sure the public does not want tax increases, deficit spending and cheapened dollars—and would stand against excessive spending if the cost thus was made clear in spending bills.

In obvious warning that he plans through appeals to the public to beat down—if he can—every high spending proposal that congress brings, Eisenhower said grimly: He means this and he will say it often.

Praises Integration
His attack was aimed chiefly at a pending $3 billion housing bill and at Democratic proposals for federal airport spending.

The housing measure is $1,300,000,000 above Eisenhower's budget request and the Democratic airport aid proposal is $575 million by comparison with $200 million asked by the president.

Eisenhower touched on these other matters in the course of the news conference: He applauded Virginia officials and citizens for this week's reopening of public

Little Margin Seen by Yearend On Missiles

Washington—Any intercontinental missile gap between Russia and the United States won't be bigger than one or two effective weapons by year's end, Sec. of Defense McElroy said today.

McElroy, elaborating on his testimony yesterday before the house armed services committee, said he was talking in terms of missiles "deliverable on target."

The United States will have a number of missiles ready on their launching pads by December, he told reporters. It is assumed Russia will, too. But, the secretary went on, "no one believes there will be 100 missiles able to go the full way."

"We discount ours the same way we do theirs" for potential misfires and strays, he said, and on this basis, there will be no practical difference by the end of the year—no more than one or two missiles, based on our judgment of accuracy and reliability."

Nelson Seeks $192,655,000 for Year; No General Tax Increase

Fear 65 of 73 on Airliner Died in New York Tragedy

Jet-Powered Craft Plunges Into Fog-Covered East River; Tugboat Rescues 8 Survivors

New York—A glistening new jet-powered American Airlines plane with 73 persons aboard plunged into the chilling, fog-covered waters of the East river with a shattering crash late last night. Sixty-five apparently perished, despite feverish rescue efforts by harbor craft.

The plane's pilot, using instruments because of the murky weather conditions, was feeling his way toward a runway at LaGuardia airport after a flight from Chicago.

For some undetermined reason, the big 4-engine turbo-prop craft smashed into the water and burst apart about a half mile from the shore end of the runway.

Some of the passengers and crew were flung from or floated out of the wreckage before it sank to the river bottom 30 to 36 feet below.

A tugboat chugging along a few hundred feet away cut loose two barges it was towing here from Connecticut and raced to the crash site. Crewmen leaped into the water or used boathooks to pull out the eight persons known to have survived. One was an 8-year-old boy.

A member of the tug's crew said the sights and sounds were something never to be forgotten. "There seemed to be bodies all around, and there were continual screams for help," he said.

All through the night and into a doleful gray, rainy dawn a huge array of boats searched the grimy river waters for bodies. By mid-morning only 19 had been recovered, leaving 46 still missing.

Housing Bill Before Senate

Washington—The year's first floor fight affecting President Eisenhower's budget opens in the senate today on a $2,925,000,000 Democratic omnibus housing bill.

Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala.), author of the measure, told a reporter he was sure he had the votes to hold the measure largely intact. He predicted Eisenhower would sign it.

Robeson Need Not Pay Tax on Stalin Peace Prize of '53

Washington—Singer Paul Robeson today won a 5-year battle to escape taxation on the $25,000 Stalin peace prize he received in 1953.

The internal revenue service announced it is abandoning its claim that the Negro entertainer owed federal income taxes of $9,655 on the award.

Robeson, 60, is now seriously ill in a Moscow hospital. He went to Russia after winning another long fight to obtain a passport.

3 Seized as Franco Foes

Madrid Regime Acts to Curb New Opposition Party

Madrid—Generalissimo Franco's government today arrested three liberal monarchists who were active in the formation of an anti-Franco political party last week.

It was the government's first retaliation against the new party, the Spanish union, which was formed at a public banquet in a hotel last Thursday. All parties except Franco's falange are banned in Spain.

Those arrested were Joaquin Satrustegui Fernandez, a wealthy industrialist and the chief speaker at the banquet; the Marquis de Casa Arnuo and Mariano Yobles y Romero Robledo, whose grandfather was a minister of the monarchy 50 years ago.

Arrests No Surprise
The arrests came as no surprise, for failure to take action would have been interpreted as weakness in Franco's regime. But a prominent member of the group said it felt more could be accomplished to bring down the Franco regime by working in the open.

There had been no attempt to keep the banquet secret. Police permission was obtained beforehand and a police representative was present.

Satruestegui nevertheless spoke out firmly against the regime. He said Franco had seized power illegally and been kept in office by force. He also blasted the government's economic policy, saying it was "without present or future."

Secretary of the Navy Thomas S. Gates, Jr., right, congratulates William Franke, under secretary, who will succeed him. The resignation of Gates, effective June 1, was announced by the White House. Gates will return to private business.

Soviet Army Won't Give Convoy Passage

Helmstedt, Germany—The Soviet army stood pat today on its refusal to grant passage to a U.S. Army truck convoy held up for two days at West Germany's frontier.

at the same time it was learned the Russians had searched a British truck on the same Berlin highway.

A U.S. Army officer met with a Soviet army officer at the checkpoint for 10 minutes but apparently nothing was settled.

A Soviet army spokesman charged that the convoy's refusal to how to red army inspection controls at the West German frontier was "a deliberate and prepared maneuver."

Demand Search Right
Commenting on a rapid-fire series of U.S. protests and demands that the 4-truck convoy with its 5-soldier guard be allowed to proceed immediately, the red army spokesman at East Berlin headquarters said:

"It is now up to the Americans to put this affair in order. The Soviets are insisting that the convoy either allow the interior of the cargo trucks to be searched or return to West Berlin."

The United States is retorting that the Russians have no right to search the truck interiors under 4-power agreements.

The Americans refused to allow Soviet border guards to search the convoy when it rolled up Monday from Berlin at the Soviet checkpoint in Marienborn just over the line from this West German border point. The trucks carried jeeps.

Orders Schools To Admit Negroes

Alexandria, Va.—Federal Judge Albert V. Bryan today ordered Alexandria to admit nine Negro children to white schools next Tuesday.

The order by the federal district court overturned the school board's refusal to assign the nine children to the schools. The schools are Hamilton High school, the new William Ramsay and Ficklin elementary schools with a total enrollment of 2,365 white pupils.

Asks Stop-Gap Measures to Meet Deficit

Governor Gives No Details on How to Provide Money

Madison—The legislature was asked today by Gov. Gaylord Nelson to adopt a series of "stop-gap" tax measures to cover a prospective budget deficit of $9,000,000 for the next year.

If the lawmakers approve such measures, as yet undefined, and refrain from spending beyond the limits set out in his fiscal program outlined in a message today, the state will be able to avoid a "general tax increase" this year, he said.

More Taxes in 1960
What measures the governor may have in mind to provide $9,000,000 in a single year became one of the mysteries of the statehouse today. The governor and his staff did little to enlighten curious reporters when the capitol press corps was invited to the executive office Tuesday afternoon for a budget briefing in preparation for the budget message to the legislature this morning.

Nothing in the message or in the press conference, however, contradicted the strong likelihood of a stiff tax increase next year, by action of the legislature in the fall when the second year budget of the Nelson term is prepared and adopted in a special legislative session.

Reporters were told that the bulk of the "stop-gap" tax measures are recommended by the legislature.

Huge Balloon To Seek Secrets Of Atmosphere

Brownwood, Texas—Scientists launched a huge balloon today in perfect weather, hoping to unveil some of the mysteries of the upper atmosphere.

The ascension was delayed three days by wind and drizzle. Four balloons will be released over a 2-week period.

Tomorrow the scientists hope to break the present record of 142,000 feet for unmanned balloons.

Wind was 3 m.p.h. and skies brilliantly clear when the balloon went up at 7:19 a.m.

At 4:45 p.m., instruments will cut loose from 122,000 feet and are expected to fall near Stephenville, Texas, about 6 p.m. A parachute will ease them to the ground.

Dr. Frank McDonald, University of Iowa physicist, said the experiments are "to probe and measure cosmic ray intensities and composition of atmospheric particles at different phases of solar activity."

$9 Million Deficit Hinted in Message

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison—Gov. Gaylord Nelson today proposed to the legislature a spending program that is far less than he wants, in his own words, but more than he can finance with the present system of state revenues.

The new Democratic governor appeared before the legislature in joint session to present his executive budget, the most important single statutory responsibility of the governor.

He accompanied it with a series of supplementary appropriation requests that would put the total of his recommended spending for the next fiscal year at about $192,655,000, or about 13 per cent higher than the total for which his predecessor, Vernon W. Thomson, was responsible during the state's current fiscal year.

Comparisons of Nelson's budget with past performance must be made with caution, however, because of the extraordinary terms in which he couched his own fiscal proposals.

The new governor presented a budget for a single year. Always before governors have offered 2-year budgets. The

Temperatures May Fall to 20 Below In Northern Areas

A developing high pressure ridge to the north and west threatens to push new waves of cold air into Wisconsin and the Fox Cities tonight, forecasters indicated this morning.

The complex weather pattern calls for a band of snow to spread eastward over the southern half of the state today reaching far eastern sections by late this afternoon.

Following this snow belt is a mass of cold air which could send temperatures tumbling from 10 to 20 below zero in the north tonight and from zero to 10 below south.

Weathermen do not predict how much snow can be expected in the Fox Cities. The forecast indicates, however, that the passing band should leave an additional 2 to 3 inches of snow in, generally, the southern half of the state.

The highest reading in Appleton Tuesday was a moderate 28. The mercury dropped off overnight to 4 above. It was 16 degrees at 11 o'clock this morning.

Tuesday's snow added an inch to the white cover already over the Fox Cities.

Jealous Husband Shoots Wrong Man
Detroit—A jealous husband barged into a Detroit home early today and killed the wrong man, police reported.

Detectives Charles Perry said Robert K. Dine, 27, crashed through the back door and shot to death Fred McKinney, 36.

Edgar Jacobs, 32, of Pontiac told police, "I was the man he was after."

Also in the house were Dine's estranged wife, 26, and their three children and Mrs. Jean Kopec, 34, and her three children.

Sgt. Perry said McKinney was visiting Mrs. Kopec. Jacobs was visiting Mrs. Dine.

Cold Wave Certainly Nothing to Sneeze At
Wisconsin—Band of snow spreading across state from west to east this afternoon and tonight. Two to three inches of new snow expected in the southern half of state. Much colder tonight. Lowest temperatures 10 to 20 below north and from zero to 10 below south. Outlook for Friday: Fair and continued cold.

Appleton—Temperatures for the 24-hour period ending at 9 o'clock: High 28, low 4 above. Temperature at 11 o'clock 16. One inch of new snow. East wind at 5 miles per hour. Barometer 29.59 inches. Weather map on page C-3.

Dulles in England For Urgent Talks

Declares He Has No Proposals But Warns Difficult Decisions Will be Forced by Soviet Union

London —P— Secretary of State Dulles flew in from Washington today for urgent talks with allied leaders on western policy in Germany and elsewhere in Europe. "I have brought no new proposals," he told reporters at the airport. "I have come here because I suspect that in coming weeks we will be forced to take difficult decisions pressed on us by the Soviet Union. "It is vital that the western nations should understand each other."

After two days of consultations in London, Dulles plans to go on to Paris and Bonn.

"I am confident that after all these talks we will be in a better position to meet the problems of the future," he said. "But I shall do more listening than talking."

Visit Moscow? As Dulles arrived, reports circulated in London that Prime Minister Macmillan had decided to accept a long-standing invitation to visit Moscow, probably next month.

The reports said Macmillan will be prepared to discuss with Premier Nikita Khrushchev a general easing of east-west tension, including the German problem, control of nuclear weapons and expansion of trade between the U.S. and the non-communist world.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd welcomed the visitor at London airport.

Talk With Norstad Dulles planned to have a quick talk with U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad, the supreme commander of North Atlantic allied forces in Europe, and then meet with Lloyd and Macmillan.

British opinion favors a change in the western approach which would offer a demonstration of allied flexibility. There is a strong feeling here that any new allied proposal to unite Germany will stand a better chance of breaking the east-west deadlock than the often rejecting demand for free all-German elections.

Leaving Washington yesterday, Dulles told newsmen he hoped to make some progress in arranging a big four meeting with Russia on Germany. He did not specify at what level.

Sign of Weakness A sign of Cuba's weakness as a nation, he said, was the fact that seven U.S. ships lay in Guantanamo harbor.

Castro, who is touring points in Oriente province, that he missed on his triumphal progress after the overthrow of Fulgencio Batista, said his agrarian reform program is part of his plan to free the Cuban economy.

He charged that 7½ million acres had been taken over by "land robbers." He promised it would be recovered by constitutional means and distributed to landless peasants.

In Havana, former Premier Oscar Gans told reporters the people want Castro as their president. He said the bearded leader is the "natural and emotional" chief of state in the public mind.

Gans added that the provisional government of President Manuel Urrutia could facilitate Castro's election through electoral reforms. Castro is 32, and the present constitution requires that the president be 35.

Heavy Gunfire Heavy gunfire broke out last night in Santiago, capital of Oriente, but it apparently was the result of confusion. First reports said the gunfire appeared general throughout the city. Later dispatches said quiet was restored quickly and no one was wounded.

A military court at Contramaestre sentenced a Batista lieutenant to death and gave one of his soldiers 30 years imprisonment. The Havana supreme military tribunal approved a death sentence against a soldier condemned for murder in Matanzas.

The first woman to be sentenced by a Cuban war crime tribunal got a 10-year term. Mrs. Orlina Fernandez was convicted at Nabaiguan, in Las Villas province of acting as an informer for Batista's forces.

Meet Thursday On Strike at Allis-Chalmers

Walkout Idles 13,600 Workers at Eight Plants

Milwaukee —P— Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company and United Auto Workers union representatives will meet Monday at director of two strike of 13,600 workers at eight plants.

Negotiations broke down Monday, the day the strike began, over bargaining procedures. The union wants a high degree of uniformity in agreements covering production workers; the company is resisting the demand.

Charles H. Alsip, the regional director of the U. S. Mediation and Conciliation Service in Chicago, said a panel of two or three mediators would meet with union and company bargaining teams Thursday afternoon.

Commissioner Francis Sheridan of Peoria, Ill., will head the panel, Alsip said.

Illegal Picketing A company spokesman said Tuesday that "illegal mass picketing" had occurred at four plants and prevented office and administrative employees from reporting for work. The firm said the incidents occurred at Terre Haute and La Porte, Ind.; Springfield, Ill.; and Gadsden, Ala.

UAW officials denied the mass picketing allegation made by the firm. The other plants on strike are at La Crosse, Wis.; Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Pittsburgh and the main West Allis works.

The old contract expired last Aug. 15 but was extended repeatedly as negotiations continued, but was terminated Monday.

Union officials said other differences remaining to be settled overtime, layoffs, vacations, health and welfare plans, retroactivity and other fringe benefits.

Proxmire Asks Loss Figures Says Proposed Farm Law Changes Lessen Income

Washington —P— Secretary of Agriculture Benson was asked today to provide Congress with expert estimates of how much farmers stand to lose by administration-proposed farm law changes.

Sen. William Proxmire D-Wis said his own estimate is that prices received for basic commodities will drop to 10 to 25 per cent below the average for the past three years if suggested price support changes were adopted.

The senator also wrote Benson that passage of President Eisenhower's recommendations would lead to "serious overproduction of dairy, poultry, and livestock products."

He accompanied by declines in the prices received by farmers for these commodities the roughly equivalent to the drastic cut in prices of the basics."

Proxmire said the president's proposal would release "tremendous quantities of feed grains at prices far below present re-sale prices" and result in an enormously large supply of feed at unprecedentedly low prices."

Youngster Tells Story Of Airliner Tragedy

Robert Sullivan, 8, Survives Crash; Mother, Father, Two Sisters Killed

New York —P— Robert Sullivan, 8, was sitting in the seat of the big airliner next to his mother. Nearby were his father and two sisters. They had been on a happy excursion to visit relatives in Chicago, as they often did, and were almost back home again.

Then came the nightmare. From a hospital bed later, Robert told about it in halting phrases as he emerged from the shock of a terrible series of events.

"I was sitting in the seat next to Mommy," he said. "I don't know what happened but all of a sudden I began to slide and we went under the seat."

"Then I was on something in the water. "Mommy was holding me. "Then in the water we couldn't stay up. "I tried to hold my breath. I was cold. My arms felt frozen."

Robert could speak no further. But somehow he knew of the tragedy that had befallen him. His murmurs to attendants made it all too plain that he knew his parents and sisters were dead.

Robert and his mother were rescued from the icy waters and rushed to the hospital. His mother was alive at the time, but died in the hospital.

His father, Joseph, and sisters, Patricia, 13, and Joan, 5, Chicago, as they often did, and were almost back home again.

Deckhands on a tugboat steaming along the river nearby at the time of the crash reported seeing a man, holding a little blonde girl, swept under the surface of the water as the plane was sinking.

They were believed to be Robert's father and one of his sisters.

This, said the president, may be taken as evidence that Americans are beginning to understand they must have consideration for their fellowmen if democracy is to work.

Eisenhower said he had never proposed anything as to civil rights legislation which was not moderate, decent and calculated to improve the situation in the south. He said it would be a wicked thing to set up a federal police to enforce civil rights, and that this will never happen.

Taxes at Maximum In his opinion, taxes now are as high as they can be kept for an indefinite period. Eisenhower said. He added that he feels the American people would resist higher taxes unless a clear emergency arose to make them see a sacrifice was necessary.

This government has protested to Moscow over the Russian halting of an American truck convoy from Berlin near the East German border. The United States regards this act as a violation of explicit or implied agreements among the four powers occupying Berlin, Eisenhower said.

The claims by Soviet Defense Minister R. Y. Malinovsky that the west lacks the missile might to cope with new Russian weapons of pinpoint accuracy sound very much like propaganda, Eisenhower said.

Why, he asked, should Americans pay more heed to such boasting of new weapons than to Soviet claims of having invented the flying machine, the auto and the telephone.

mended by the state department of taxation, and that some of them have been offered in other years. Presumably they were turned down by other administrations. But Nelson would not identify them further. He said he preferred not to use the word "loop-holes" when he discussed the gaps in the tax laws he said he wanted to plug.

Income Tax Revisions It was apparent that some of the revisions will involve the personal income tax law, but the governor's assistants said others will cover corporation and excise tax levies, among others.

But they won't be "general" increases, in the sense that all taxpayers will feel them. It was emphasized.

Nelson also made it clear that such tax revisions "will represent only temporary relief and offer no permanent solution to our fiscal problems."

"They are hold-the-line measures in much the same sense as the executive budget itself. But if you are willing to accept both them and the budget," he told the lawmakers, "I have high hopes that we can avoid any general tax increase this year. On the other hand, if you feel it is necessary to adopt additional programs requiring additional financing, a substantial general tax increase will be necessary."

Juvenile Hearing For Boy, 17, That Shot Father Stevens Point —P— Judge James H. Levi will hold a juvenile court hearing Thursday for a 17-year-old youth detained in connection with the fatal shooting of his father during a family squabble.

"The best interests of the community, the family and the boy himself would be served by holding a hearing in juvenile court," Judge Levi said.

Judge Levi met with Portage County Dist. Atty. John Haka Tuesday afternoon before announcing his decision. Haka quoted the youth as saying he fired the shot that killed Allen Johnson, 44, Sunday night, but did not intend to do so. Haka said the youth told him he only wanted to frighten his father to stop him from abusing his mother.

Bill Seeks to Make Jobless Pay Benefits In State Permanent

Provisions Enacted in Special Session Topic of Legislation

Madison —P— Emergency jobless benefits enacted by the legislature during last year's recession would be made permanent under terms of a bill introduced in the assembly Tuesday.

Many other bills were introduced as the fourth week of the 1959 session opened. The only major bill introduced in the senate dealt with administration of the harbor at Superior.

A special session of the legislature in 1958 increased the maximum weekly payments to unemployed workers from $38 to $42 and the maximum number of weeks of eligibility from 26 to 39. The higher benefits are due to expire in April.

Co-sponsors of Bill Co-sponsors of the bill were Assembly Speaker George Molinaro, D-Kenosha, and Assemblyman Allen Flannigan, D-Milwaukee.

A bill that would allow Superior's harbor commission to operate jointly with the port commission of Duluth, Minn., was introduced by Sen. Carl E. Lauri, D-Superior. The legislature also passed three bills Tuesday.

The senate passed and sent to the assembly a bill that would give the board of a newly created Union high school exclusive right to determine when secondary grades may be added to the system.

Assembly Bills Two assembly bills went to the senate following favorable action. One would give the county court at Waupaca civil and criminal jurisdiction. The other would give Kenosha into the crash.

Green Bay Man Fined $60 on Traffic Count

Auto Accident
Sunday Afternoon

Barth H. Gleason, 33, Green Bay, was fined $60, in municipal court Tuesday for failing to yield right-of-way.

He was arrested Sunday afternoon after his car struck another at Meade and Atlantic streets. Two occupants of the other car were injured.

Three points were charged against his driving record for the traffic violation and three for the accident.

Fined $35
Mary Lee Markgraf, 24, Antigo, was fined $35 and charged six points for speeding.

She was arrested in Hortonville Thursday after county police clocked her at 60 miles per hour in a 25-mile zone.

Fined $10 and charged three points each for speeding were Dennis Kanter, 18, Whitelaw, Wis., and James Jenkel, 36, Black Creek.

Forfeiting bonds and charged three points each for speeding were Maynard Konitzer, 21, Green Bay, $23.95, and Leland Lemieux, 32, Green Bay; Marlow R. Kollath, 26, 834 E. Minor street, and Nancie L. Vogel, 18, 226 Sarah street, Kaukauna, all $13.95

Michael C. McKeen, 16, 519 N. Sampson street, paid $3.95 costs and his license was revoked for 30 days for speeding.

License Suspended

Paul C. Sonnenleiter, 16, 727 E. Maple street, paid $3.95 costs and his license was suspended for four months for driving too fast for conditions. Judge Schmiede stayed the last three months on condition the youth isn't arrested for a moving vehicle violation during that period.

James Brugger, 16, route 1, Black Creek, paid $3.95 costs and his license was revoked for six months for inattentive driving, with the last five months stayed.

Fined $15 and charged four points each for illegal passing were William E. Bohman, 28, Hortonville; Roger Seifert, 19, route 1, Appleton, and Eunice M. Umland, 21, Wittenberg, forfeited $28.95.

Make Tuition Deductible, Says Solon

Beloit Assemblyman
Says Proposal Could
Be $220,000 Yearly

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Permitting the deduction of college tuition costs for state income tax purposes would save Wisconsin taxpayers at least $220,000 a year and cost the state treasury an equal amount, the state department of taxation has estimated for the legislature.

The proposal for such a deduction is before the legislature in a bill drawn by Assemblyman Belting of Beloit.

It would exempt for personal state income tax purposes payments for tuition made within the year to private or public college level institutions located within Wisconsin, either by the person who paid the amount in his own behalf or by one who paid it on behalf of a dependent.

Similar legislation has been pushed in the U. S. Congress for federal income tax purposes by Wisconsin representatives. The state tax office said that state income losses with the passage of such a law would tend to increase, because of the prospect for steadily increasing college enrollment.

Eight AHS Seniors Commended for Tests

Eight Appleton High school seniors have been commended by the National Merit Scholarship corporation for their performances on a nationwide test of education development, according to H. H. Helble, principal. They are Simon Lewenstein, Mary Metzger, Jane Pasek, Neil Vanderlinden, Donald Loker, Martin Semmelhack, Stephen Jolin and Marion Hackberg.

Though these students did not reach the finals in the Merit test, they were the Wisconsin runners-up in the 1958-59 competition and have demonstrated "highly superior ability and outstanding promise."

The Governor on Schools

Gov. Gaylord Nelson thinks it is ridiculous for hundreds of school boards to be designing schools. He suggests a study to determine whether state-employed architects could make up a series of plans "to meet every conceivable situation;" whether there should be a wider use of prefabricated materials; and whether a 10-months' school year would enable communities to raise teacher salaries and make better use of expensive school buildings.

These suggestions pose some interesting questions. Would it be a saving for the taxpayer to pay the salaries for perhaps ten times the number of architects now employed at Madison or are they already there looking for more to do? Does the governor infer that private architects, many of whom have extensively studied school buildings, are not as well qualified as those who would hasten to the capital eager for a job? Has he totaled the expenses of state-employed architects traveling around from city to village to town with their files of plans?

We are informed many school boards take their proposed plans to one of the architects now in the employ of the State Department of Public Instruction for suggestions or alterations. Would it be better to have the state, that is the taxpayer, pay for the hundreds of hours school board members now put in on school plans without charge? The fact is that schools built in Wisconsin generally are highly satisfactory and that few areas permit overcrowding.

During a budget hearing Gov. Nelson questioned the practice of the state colleges building elementary laboratory schools as a "gift" to the community involved. The governor might take a look at these schools to get an idea of the cost when the state does the building. The schools are excellent in construction and plan; but they are elaborate when compared to those which most communities are able to build. There may be other reasons, such as teacher training, why the cost is high, but the fact remains that centralization of building means greater expenses. It is easy to get money from the state and still easier to get it from Washington as many of the advocates of federal aid to education are enthusiastically aware. But the interest costs, as far as the amount the taxpayer must dish out, go higher and higher.

The governor asked "what qualifications do you or I, sitting on a school board, have in passing on the merits of a million dollar building?" But isn't he doing exactly that in his statement on the use of prefabricated material? It may be that more should be used. If so it is probable that the local boards will recognize it as quickly as anyone.

The problem of more extensive use of our school buildings exists. But year around schools have been judged impractical by the communities which have tried them. The 10-month school term suggested by the governor probably isn't a solution either. It would hardly give enough class time to shorten the years of attendance. It would cut into the weeks for teachers' summer study required for professional growth and qualifications. It would seem that a limited number of classes on a voluntary basis, as now done in many communities including Appleton and Green Bay, would be a better solution.

The big problem for Gov. Nelson, and undoubtedly he knows it well, is to raise enough money for existing and expanding state programs or to cut back those programs to meet the needs of his budget. In the meantime, of course, it can do no harm to talk about the subject and to explore every possible angle.

Farmers Union and the Withholding Tax

There was something significantly eager, it seemed to us, in the proposal of the Wisconsin Farmers Union resolutions committee the other day putting that organization on the income tax withholding bandwagon.

The Farmers Union lobby, in effect, was announcing that it wants to change the laws affecting other taxpayers. It is perfectly evident that farmers as a whole won't be subject to tax withholding machinery, if it is enacted in this state, since they are not working for wages or salaries and such deductions won't be practicable with respect to their earnings.

The Farmers Union stands for a program of considerably higher state expenditures — even beyond those endorsed in the Democratic platform and the Democratic legislators it helped into office this year.

Its leaders know that such expenditures can be financed only through higher state taxation and like the other shrewd liberals now contemplating the affairs of the new state regime, they know that they cannot easily get higher taxation of incomes without sugar-coating the increases. An easy method of sugar-coating, as politicians in other states have suddenly discovered too, is to collect taxes once a week rather than once a year. Then the individual taxpayer won't notice, or if he notices, won't much care.

It is not surprising either to have the same Farmers Union press release repeat the demagogic cry about "plugging corporation tax loopholes" so that "all corporations pay their fair share of taxes."

The announcement is singularly lacking in details. What corporations? Does this group care to particularize? Does this group care to particularize? These pronouncements are becoming wearisome, since not even the friendly politicians in the legislature seem disposed to act upon them.

We note with some interest that the Farmers Union did not endorse Gov. Nelson's proposal for a "let the chips fall where they may study of the impact of taxes." Was this an oversight? Or does this organization fear the results of a complete exposure of the impact of all state and local taxes on all groups and individuals in the Wisconsin community, such as Gov. Nelson promises to provide?

Some Spicy Intercommunity Talk

The people of America appear to be growing tired of the cold war and are resuming some of the spicy intercommunity battles which were familiar when the nation was growing up. Those intercommunity squabbles were good for the sections involved and may still serve a useful purpose.

Because Sen. Douglas of Illinois wants a national monument established on the Lake Michigan sand dunes in Indiana, several important Indiana people are annoyed. They want to use the area for a harbor and possibly as the location for a steel mill. Indiana already has three miles of shore line and 2,182 acres in state Sand Dunes park, according to Indiana's Sen. Capehart. A resolution opposing the national monument has been offered in the Indiana legislature. The resolution would ask congress to tear down the loop business district of Chicago and turn that area into a national park. The resolution says, "Indiana will supply enough dune sand, bog water, scrub oak and beer cans to provide atmosphere for the Chicago park." If the Illinois people don't like the Indiana suggestion, the resolution says they can "mind their own cotton pickin' business."

There also is a nice line of repartee running between Los Angeles and Detroit. This exchange started when Mayor Norris Poulson of Los Angeles ordered a Rambler for his official car instead of the customary Cadillac.

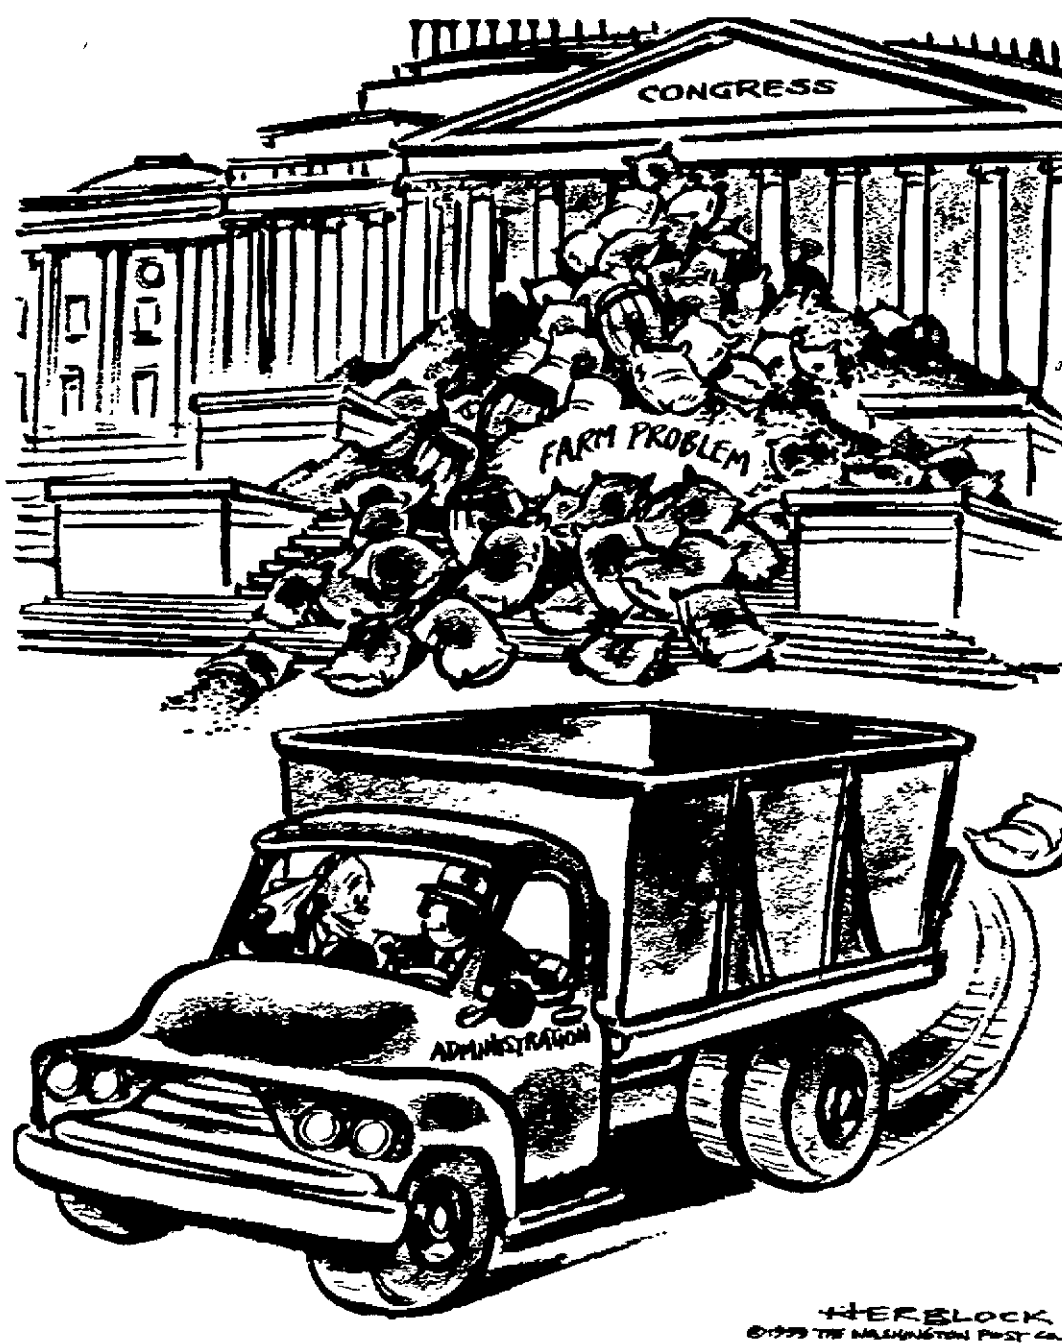

He charged that the big Detroit cars were responsible for much of Los Angeles smog because they were bigger than necessary and thus were burning up more gasoline than the smaller cars and contributing more to the pollution of the Los Angeles air. The mayor is quite conspicuous in his Rambler among the many Cadillacs parked around the Los Angeles city hall.

The mayors of Detroit and Pontiac quickly replied to the slur on the Michigan products. They called the Los Angeles mayor's attention to such troublesome items as beautiful winter weather in Florida and Florida oranges which they said might appeal to Michigan people as coming from a more friendly place than California. Further, they suggested that the fog might be coming from old worn out jalopies which burn more oil than gas and contribute much more to the fog than an equal number of new Detroit cars. They added the taunt that California oil wells and refineries are a more direct source of smoke and smog than automobiles.

Such intercommunity disputes are in the American tradition and they contribute a great deal to the understanding of one community by another. The Indiana sand dunes area is better known and the problem of a national monument better understood because of the interest aroused by this discussion. Likewise Los Angeles and Detroit and their products have received more thought in recent weeks than otherwise would be likely. The smog problem is a real one which needs an answer. Likewise the exhaust from the motor car, large or small, does contribute to the pollution of the air and should have some attention.

In addition, there is much more fun in these 'American discussions than in anything that can be said about the drab, miserable cold war.

County Government Reform Gets Little Support From Legislature

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—Again there are demands in the legislature for a reform of county government organization, and generous public accompanied the proposals of the reformers. The history of the legislature in the last quarter of a century, however, would dampen the enthusiasm of some of these zealots if they bothered to stop at the legislative library to examine it.

For there are few major proposals that have come before the legislature so frequently and so regularly, and with so little response from the public or its representatives, as the idea that the state should make over the arrangements for the administration of county affairs.

There is nothing more difficult to change than political institutions. A governmental structure is perhaps as close to eternal as anything that the hand or mind of man can fashion, the long-time legislative observer is tempted to remark.

JUDGMENT

Typically these proposals for reforming county organization get a good "play" in the press. Correspondents tend to magnify them out of proportion to their real significance.

For rarely are such propositions brought in by legislative leaders, those who through their own prestige and influence might be expected to gather some support for them. Indeed, they are usually brought in by obscure new-comers or back-benchers, and occasionally the observer is tempted to believe they are brought in for no more noble motive than to rather some needed publicity for their little known authors.

Nor has there been any showing of genuine popular interest in the subject, as distinguished from the many other genuinely popular subjects that turn up in legislative halls. When the public is oblivious, of course, the legislature can ignore reform measures with impunity.

It may be doubted that more than one man or woman in a hundred in Wisconsin ever has attended a county board meeting or has more than the most fragmentary notion of how a county is run or what all the shouting is about at each session of the legislature about the archaic county governmental arrangements.

Nor does the typical citizen feel as close to the county, as such, and especially in the urbanized areas which now have a heavy majority of the total population, as he does to the city or village government. For most of them, to paraphrase a celebrated wit, the county is probably an institution to punish evil-doers, and to tax those who behave.

THE ISSUE

The basic issue in this perennial argument is the so-called uniformity clause of the state constitution as it prescribes for county government. All counties must be governed in the same way.

The reformers say, with a patience and persistence that is more to be admired than their political judgment, that there should be alternative forms, at the option of the inhabitants of a county. An urban county thereupon could contrive different county governmental arrangements than a strictly rural district, for example. Currently much of the pressure for change comes from city districts that are convinced — at least their municipal officials appear to be — that the present supervisor system is loaded in favor of the rural territories with respect to taxation and other matters.

Actually, it is not always understood that the county board of supervisors system did not always prevail. It has existed uniformly for the last 90 years or so. But in the earlier decades of the state's history the form of county government fluctuated between the so-called commission and supervisory systems. The legislature today could prescribe the commission system, or any other system, to replace the supervisor system, but the constitution would require such a change to apply to all counties.

Looking Backward

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Feb. 7, 1889.

The National Banks were authorized in 1873 and the charters granted under the acts will expire by limitation in 1883. Democrats will oppose any effort to continue National Bank currency until these charters have expired, when they expect the country will be forced to devise a new plan for issuing Treasury notes or greenbacks.

There is no legislation for rechartering of National banks nor will there be while Democrats have majorities in Congress. The Republican majority in the U. S. Supreme Court, when that body reaches the Greenback cases now pending, will doubtless reverse its own decision and decide that Legal Tender U. S. Treasury Notes are unconstitutional and without a constitutional amendment the government cannot issue a note and make it legal tender.

The Democrats expect all this and while an amendment will take years before all states will act upon it, Democrats in Congress will seek legislation to replace all the outstanding greenbacks with U. S. Treasury notes not legal tender, but receivable for all debts and demands due the government, including custom duties.

The question will suggest itself: if not rechartered, will not the National banks be obliged to stop issuing bank notes and enter upon their redemption in greenbacks and coin after 1883?

What Others are Saying

From The Louisville Courier-Journal

We like to think that the American people are wiser, more politically mature, more tolerant than they were 30 years ago. Some are eager to test this progress. They would nominate a Roman Catholic for the presidency, in the belief that the bigotry that flared against Alfred E. Smith in 1928 is dead in America today.

There are several prominent Democrats with whom such a test could be made in 1960. Gov. "Pat" Brown of California, Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and Frank Lausche of Ohio are practicing Catholics, while Gov. Robert Meyner of New Jersey was baptized a Catholic, but no longer adheres to that church. The most obvious choice would be Sen. John F. Kennedy. His phenomenal record as a vote getter in Massachusetts, his impressive record in the senate, the friends he won at the convention in 1956, and his winning personality have put him out front in the early race for the nomination.

Yet James Reston in the New York Times raises a disturbing point about the Kennedy candidacy. This handsome and ingratiating young man, he notes, "may become a symbol and center of political and religious controversy . . . If he is nominated, he may antagonize many Protestant votes. If he is rejected after a couple of years of debate on the religious controversy, many Catholics may feel he was spurned on religious grounds."

This presents an acute problem to some Democratic liberals, men and women who scorn religious prejudice, but who lack enthusiasm for Kennedy on other grounds. Some feel he is too young for the big job, (he will be 43 in 1960), others that he has had too little experience of foreign affairs, still others that he is inclined to substitute charm for genuine ability. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt has stated publicly that she believes he is lacking in political courage, an echo of the McCarthy battle. Such people might find their motives misunderstood in opposing Kennedy's nomination.

The old pros of the party, meanwhile, lick their chops over the number of big city Catholic votes Kennedy could be expected to bring to the ticket, while wondering uneasily if rural voters would revive the 1928 alarm that the Pope of Rome was planning to move to Washington. Significantly, just about every other Democratic hopeful would like to have Jack Kennedy running with him, in second place on the ticket.

Joseph Alsop argues an extreme liberal Protestant view. He believes the nation would like to elect a Catholic in 1960 to expiate its sins of bigotry in 1928. The Catholic editor of The Kentucky Irish-American, in a serious and thoughtful reply, held that Alsop was talking a lot of nonsense. There is still a bitter residue of prejudice in America, in his view, and it would rush to the surface of our national life if a Catholic were nominated for President.

Of course Kennedy should properly be judged on his merits alone, of which he has many. The trouble is, however, that a floor fight against him at the 1960 convention, of a kind that so often rages at those gatherings: might set off sparks of anti-Catholic prejudice. If Kennedy were named and lost the race, as Smith did, the world would almost certainly lay the result to religious intolerance. This is a really serious and potentially dangerous issue. It may have to be decided for the Democratic party by the wisest and calmest of the Catholic leaders the party can muster.

'Tis a Sad Season but There's Hope

From The St. Louis Post-Dispatch

This is the season which farmers and poets call the dead of winter. And dead it is. From the second Sunday after Epiphany until the Sun enters Aries, and Uranus and the Moon are in conjunction — or Saturday March 21, when at exactly 4:55 a.m., CST, Spring begins — man encounters his most dispiriting ordeal. Often it takes all his energy just to hope to survive the dismal time. Nature is unfriendly, and fellow mortals seem drained of all compassion.

This is not the winter of sleigh bells, songs and parties. That ends a week or so after the New Year begins. Snow no longer is ermine. Icicles no longer are crystal pendants. Sharp air no longer stimulates; it cuts. Ice and snow are a black, gritty abomination, an impasse to which makes the whole scene grim and gray.

This is the season of sniffles, coughs, sinus infections, sore throats, fevers, agues and worse. The fire on the hearth is only a risk frowned on by underwriters. Skates are as dull as trees are bare. Even the hardy sparrow no longer is a reminder of how wonderful the world can be. The salt has lost its savor. Tempers are as short as the days.

Ah, but the days are getting longer. Very, very gradually the sun, cloud and fog-blanketed as it may be, has been prolonging its contemplation of our part of the earth. Perhaps you already have noticed it. The alarm clock no longer goes off in the pitch-black night, and there is a lingering bit of light in the street for the evening's homeward rush.

Sad Sam Jones has signed his contract — with a well-earned raise. The postman already has brought two seed catalogues. Almost any day the thought may come up that another forsythia would look good in the back yard. Then gray will become a lovely color — the fawn-gray of the dead lawns and leaves blending into moon-mellowed mist. The tracery of leafless trees will become pure beauty. In a week or two or three, fishing gear will be brought out. Rods will be retied and varnished, reels oiled, hooks sharpened, nets mended, new flies tied.

It's the grim season, the year at its worst; no doubt about that. But there is help for getting through. The days are growing longer.

CNW Depot Shifts Step in Revolution

Demonstrates Continuing Change In Methods of Transportation

Madison—The sweeping order of the Wisconsin public service commission piping out nearly 100 small town agencies of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway company is another step in the continuing transportation revolution within Wisconsin.

It is also the most dramatic showing to date in the reorganization of the railroad by Ben W. Heinemann, dynamic chairman of its board of directors. The CNW, with 2,634 miles of track, is the state's principal rail carrier. The commission deliberated nearly a year over the most drastic shake-up in rail service in state history, but then granted most of the station consolidations asked by the railroad. The action, the CNW paid, would result in a saving of about $500,000 to apply against operating losses of recent years.

Objections
Under the centralization plan, about 81 stations are designated as central agencies to take over the business formerly handled at 100 others. Of the railroad's 253 stations in the state, 196 have been 1-man operations.

The commission order was taken over the objections of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, representing most of the station agents concerned, local public officials and commercial clubs and some industrial and trade associations.

But, the commission pointed to the record of the last decade for a showing that both freight and passenger stations, and that the small town passenger business has virtually disappeared.

Representing a favorite theme, the commission said that the auto and the commercial airlines have greatly reduced the need for rail passenger service, and that the rapid development of motor transport and the construction of highways and waterways have re-

Town Seeks $2 Boost in Trailer Fees

Grand Chute will seek to raise monthly trailer fees to five dollars, Chairman Arthur Lecker said today.

Present fee is three dollars per month.

Lecker cited increasing government costs as the reason for the fee hike proposal.

"All other taxes having been going up... we see no reason why trailer dwellers can't bear their share of the load," Lecker said.

A public hearing on the proposal will be held at the town hall at 8 p.m., Feb. 19.

College People Will Visit Coasts On Official Trips

Lawrence college administrators will visit both coasts during February on official trips for the college.

On the west coast, interviewing prospective students, is Edward J. Roberts, director of admissions. He will see high school seniors in Seattle, Wash.; Portland, Ore.; San Francisco and Los Angeles, Calif.; Phoenix, Ariz., and Denver, Colo., during a 5-week tour.

Meeting with alumni clubs on the east coast next week will be President and Mrs. Douglas M. Knight, Mr. and Mrs. John Rosebush and Mrs. Margaret Schumann. Rosebush is director of alumni relations and development and Miss Schumann is college publicity director and editor of the Lawrence Alumnus.

Alumni groups will meet in Washington, D.C., Feb. 9; in Boston, Mass., Feb. 12, and in New York City, Feb. 13. The Knights and Miss Schumann will be guests of President and Mrs. Nathan M. Pusey of Harvard university while in Boston.

Four Injured In Auto Crash Tuesday Night

Four people received minor injuries in a 2-car accident at French road and Highway 96, about 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Receiving cuts and bruises were Robert Vandevort, 19, route 1, Kaukauna, driver of one of the cars, and two passengers, Roy Wildenberg, Jr., 19, route 1, Kaukauna, and Donald Lopas, 20, Little Chute. Joseph G. Jansen, 36, 3338 Wisconsin road, driver of the other car, received a cut nose.

Police said the accident occurred when Jansen attempted to make a turn in front of Vandevort, who was unable to stop in time avoid collision.

Ike Leaves for His Vacation in Georgia

Washington—President Eisenhower takes off today for his annual vacation of quail hunting and golf at Thomasville, Ga.

But he arranged to hold a news conference before heading south aboard his private plane, Columbine III.

The flight to Spence air force base at Moultrie, Ga., takes about two hours. From there, the president will travel 35 miles by automobile to the edge of Thomasville and the plantation home of his host, George M. Humphrey, the Eisenhower administration's first secretary of the treasury.

Promise Kept as Wife Delivers Girl

Denver, Colo.—There'll be no suit for breach of contract in the George N. Crowder household.

Crowder clerk for District Judge William A. Black, said when he and his wife were married, she promised him two boys and a girl.

The boys are George, 11, and Gary, 9. Recently, there was a new addition to the Crowder household—a girl, Kristen Margaret.

Ronald Pahlke, 21, right, is taken from municipal court Tuesday after he pleaded innocent to burglary and auto theft. He is handcuffed to Det. Vilas Burmeister. Pahlke waived hearing on charges of attacking a detective and deputy and will enter a plea Friday.

Two of Many Letters to Billy Graham Offer Eyes

Honolulu—One offer came from a 65-year-old woman in Kentucky...

They were offering their eyes to evangelist Billy Graham, afflicted with an ailment in his left eye.

The 40-year-old Protestant crusader received thousands of letters and telegrams from all over the world expressing concern. They came from Catholics, Moslems and persons of many faiths. They came from prominent people and little people in many countries around the world.

Graham says he is overwhelmed and humbled. Many persons, he says, write that they are praying for him.

Condition Not Critical
The evangelist, nearing the end of a 3-week rest in Hawaii, says:

"I am convinced that God does answer prayer. Although I don't consider my condition critical, it did something to me spiritually to know that so many people all over the world were praying and were interested."

Of the letter from the elderly woman in Kentucky offering here eye, Graham said: "I was so overwhelmed, I was moved to tears over it. I never had anything like that happen to me before."

Graham said one Catholic missionary wrote that special prayers were being offered for his recovery. "I thought that was a very wonderful thing," he said.

Among those who sent letters or telegrams were Vice President Nixon, labor leader Walter Reuther and the late film producer Cecil B. De Mille.

Former County Official Dies

Walter Kurtz Was Chilton Treasurer, Calumet Clerk

Walter Kurtz, 75, 45 Baldwin street, Chilton, a former city and county official, died at 4:20 a.m. today in Chilton after a long illness. He was born Oct. 9, 1883, in Milwaukee.

He came to Chilton in 1919 and became cashier at the old Chilton National bank until 1933, when he served with the emergency credit commission and the Federal Land bank. He was cashier at the State Bank of Chilton from 1942 to 1946.

In 1946 he was elected city treasurer, but resigned in 1947 when he was appointed county clerk. He resigned as clerk in 1954 because of ill health.

He was past president of the Wisconsin Gladiolus society and was a member of the Chilton chapter of the Order of Eastern Star and the Chilton lodges of F. and A.M. and Royal Arch Masons.

Funeral services will be 10 a.m. Saturday at St. Boniface Episcopal church, Chilton, with burial in the Union cemetery, Milwaukee. Friends may call at the Erbe-Hoffmann Funeral home, Chilton, after 2 p.m. Friday. Masonic and Eastern Star rites will be performed at the funeral home at 8 p.m. Friday.

He is survived by his widow; three daughters, Mrs. Louis Bieniek, Chicago, and Mrs. William Polzin and Mrs. Bernice Ringwolski, both of Milwaukee; one son, Walter, Germantown; 10 grandchildren, and 14 great-grandchildren.

Utility Bond Issue Wins Approval From Clintonville Council

Clintonville—A $160,000 bond issue for a new substation and remodeling the municipal water and electric plant was approved Tuesday by the common council.

Aldermen moved to have the city's bonding firm of Chapman and Cutler, Chicago, draw up necessary resolutions for reading at the next meeting.

The council's water and light commission, in a detailed report outlining the proposed project, said the work and material will cost $158,750.

Town Names Civil Defense Director

Robert E. Brown, Ridge Lane, has been named Grand Chute civil defense director. The appointment was approved at a town board meeting Tuesday night.

He is survived by four brothers, Abraham and John, both of Beloit, and John, Hortonville, and Oliver, New London, and one sister, Mrs. Jessie Briggs, Neenah.

Rawlsky Services

Funeral services were held in Green Bay today for Mrs. Antone Rawlsky, 66, former Appleton resident, who died in Green Bay Sunday.

Born was in St. Joseph cemetery, Appleton. Survivors include her husband; two sons, Clarence and John, Beaver Dam; two daughters, Mrs. Herb Kanzenbach, Cecil and Mrs. Steve Wroblewski, Pulaski; three brothers, Paul Moser, Reedsville, John Brillion, and Joseph, Appleton; a sister, Miss Lena Moser, Brillion and 15 grandchildren.

Liethen Funeral

Funeral services for William Liethen, 1-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Liethen, 1412 W. Winnebago street, will be 9 a.m. Thursday at St. Mary Catholic church, Appleton. Burial will be in the St. Mary Catholic cemetery, Kaukauna.

Man Suffers Heart Attack, Dies While at Work in Kaukauna

Theodore J. Kortz, 58, route 4, Appleton, collapsed and died of a heart attack while working at Badger-Northland, Inc., Kaukauna, about 11 a.m. Monday.

He was born Aug. 29, 1900, in Freedom where he farmed until taking employment in Kaukauna, Oct. 3, 1955.

Funeral services will be 9 a.m. Friday at St. John Catholic church, Little Chute, with burial in St. Nicholas cemetery, Freedom. Friends may call after 7 p.m. today at the Greenwood Funeral home, Kaukauna, where the rosary will be said at 8 p.m. today and Thursday.

He is survived by a daughter, Miss Delores, Little Chute; two sons, Carl and Theodore, Jr., both of Little Chute; one brother, Herman, route 1, Kaukauna, and three sisters, Mrs. William Geurts, route 1, Kaukauna, and Mrs. John Van Deraa and Mrs. Norbert Coenen, both of Little Chute.

2 Die in Crash Of Auto, Train

Waukesha—A Waukesha man and one of two neighbor girls he was taking to school were killed today in a car-train collision in Waukesha.

Killed in the grade crossing crash here this morning were Walter Lucht, 29, and Victoria Nicholson, 7, both of Waukesha. Bonnie Nicholson, a sister of the dead girl, was injured and taken to a hospital.

Authorities said Lucht was driving the two girls to school when his car and a south-bound Soo Line passenger train collided at a grade crossing on Waukesha's south side. The car was dragged 300 feet.

Allenville Grange Begins Party Series

Allenville—Seventeen tables of cards were in play in the first party in the series being held this month by the Allenville Grange at its hall on Monday nights. Prize winners were Walter Smick, Curtis Combs, S.L.R., Mrs. Bruno Erdman and Mrs. Ernest Ehlers.

The committee in charge was Mr. and Mrs. Chester Becker and Mr. and Mrs. Mildard Ihde. The second in the series will be at 8:30 next Monday night.

The Rev. Perry Britton will preach on "The Hope of the Church Tomorrow: Evangelism Today" at the 10:45 a.m. worship service Sunday of the Community Baptist church. Sunday school is at 9:30 a.m.

Atlas Missile Test Flight Successful

John R. Riedl Will Admitted For Probate

The will of the late John R. Riedl, general manager of the Appleton Post-Crescent, was admitted for probate Tuesday in county court.

The estate's value was estimated in excess of $1,000 each for personal and real property.

The will provides the bulk of the estate be divided in equal shares among three surviving children, John J. Riedl, Indianapolis, Mrs. Joann Nichols, Milwaukee, and Mrs. Janet Gibbons, Green Bay. It stipulates, however, that the Riedl home in the town of Grand Chute cannot be sold without the consent of all three children.

It also provides for distribution of the late Mrs. Riedl's personal property among the children and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ruth Riedl, wife of John J.

Oshkosh Trio Caught In Attempt to Steal Auto, Leave State

Oshkosh—Three Oshkosh teenagers face juvenile court proceedings as a result of their attempt to steal a car and leave the state Tuesday night. The two boys, 16 and 17, are being held in the juvenile detention ward of the county jail and their 13-year-old girl companion was released to her parents.

Proceedings were set for next Monday. The car was stolen from the rear of the Oshkosh Elks club at 11:55 p.m. Tuesday and the trip was picked up by Oshkosh police 15 minutes later when they stopped for gas. They said they were going to Rockford, Ill.

come from present sources); and asked the lawmakers to support a series of bills he is now preparing that will provide "stop-gap" tax increases, as he put it.

Spending Balance
Nelson showed the legislators that he intends to spend the $9,469,000 balance on July 1 which in effect was inherited from the preceding administration, as well as estimated revenues for the next year of $174,258,000.

Thus although his first year budget will be in technical balance, if his calculations are accurate, there won't be any funds on hand at the end of the year, as the state requires for operations purposes. Most governors have been required to calculate some strong balances. In Nelson's case he has a reserve of political security, in the sense that he can make up errors or further deficits in the second year of the biennium. He intends to call the legislature into special session in the fall for that purpose.

Tax Increase
That special session of the legislature will also be asked to increase taxes, by a general revision of existing tax laws which will be worked out during succeeding months by a special commission served by a panel of University of Wisconsin economists.

The governor labored the point throughout his address that the money proposals he offered are too conservative, but he said he has no alternative under the fiscal facts that confront him.

As in a previous general speech to the legislature, however, Nelson did not criticize the Republicans who have been running affairs at the capitol. Some Democratic publicists have been trying to popularize the idea that Nelson and the Republican legislature left the state in a "financial mess."

Inflation Cause
He repeated that existing services cost more because of inflation and because of the "population explosion." The 1958 recession had some effect in holding down tax income, he added.

He called the gap between spending and state treasury income a "growing" one. During the present year, he said, the state is balancing its budget through the consumption of surplus funds. It is now spending at a rate of $10,000,000 a year more than taxes bring in.

He told the legislature that the state must face a total revision of its revenue scheme, or eventually reach a crisis beyond our control.

Hopes for Cut
Nelson held out some hope that his studies during the summer, after legislative recess, can find some ways of reducing present state expenditures. He said he has learned that one of the great problems of government is appraising the relative worth and urgency of separate spending programs.

He recited how he had thrown out dozens of spending items proposed by departments in his December budget hearings, with the result that "this is not merely a loan program offers the greatest nearly a bare bones budget" Nelson's actual budget bill, the in technical terms, amounts to about $183,000,000, which compares with about $170,940,000 in the preceding fiscal year, exclusive of building funds. Nelson said he will present his own building budget later, and that it won't necessarily affect the treasury. That implied further borrowing for the construction of college and university buildings.

But the governor also asked the legislature to approve $9,685,000 in other appropriations outside the budget, for purposes that he said are particularly desired by him.

Political Pressure
They included items for which political pressure is required to calculate some strong balances. In Nelson's case he has a reserve of political security, in the sense that he can make up errors or further deficits in the second year of the biennium. He intends to call the legislature into special session in the fall for that purpose.

State Hospitals
He said he had no choice but to recommend $2,000,000 for the cost of new facilities in state hospitals and to handle caseload increases, $2,000,000 more for higher state college and university enrollment costs, $2,000,000 for state employee and faculty merit increases demanded by law, and $435,000 for emergency assistance to farmers under the tuberculosis testing program for cattle.

He said to the legislature: "In all these appropriations, we have a joint responsibility. Unless we want to default on the state's share of local school costs, as set by the legislature itself; unless we want to assume responsibility for boarding up new welfare institutions just as they are about to open up their doors; unless we want to turn away some 2,700 additional students eager to seek a college education; and unless we want to go on record as denying the increased pay and retirement benefits legitimately due our public servants and faculty members — these increased expenditures cannot be cut further."

Pay Increases
Nelson's program provides for a four per cent pay increase for civil service employees, and an eight per cent boost for faculty members. He said he wants further increases in his budget for next year.

The governor said he is favoring student loans rather than outright grants in his December budget. The result form of scholarships because that "this is not merely a loan program offers the greatest nearly a bare bones budget" Nelson's actual budget bill, the least cost to the taxpayer." Nelson said he has not yet worked out his building finance program, but that it will undoubtedly be larger than the $4,800,000 in state tax funds for buildings — aside from borrowings — spent this year.

Many Gambles
Nelson's fiscal program, to the experienced observer, is an extremely complex combination of delicate gambles. One of the important assumptions, in the calculation that the program will balance, is that the legislature won't spend money beyond the purposes and the sums outlined by the governor.

But legislatures always before have overshot the executive budget recommendations. The governor recognized that background when he told the senators and assemblymen that if they spend beyond his figures, it may be impossible to avoid a general increase in state taxes this year.

The eight survivors were in hospitals.

One woman, the mother of the rescued boy, also had been pulled from the water alive but died afterward. The boy said later his mother swam and held his head above water before he was rescued.

Swirling river currents, plus rain and wind up to 40 m.p.h., hampered the search for other bodies, and gave rise to fears that some of them might be swept miles out into Long Island sound.

The site of the crash was marked by a few floating pieces of the $1,700,000 Lockheed Electra airliner — a type put into service with great fanfare only a few weeks ago.

There also were some heartbreaking other reminders of the tragedy — such as a baby's glove, a woman's shoe, a package of letters, a knapsack and a woman's dress.

Among the missing plane passengers presumed dead were Beniah Zachary, producer of the Kukla, Fran and Ollie television program, and Richard Winn, director of facility planning for American Airlines.

The new turbo-prop airliners were designed to combine jet power with the advantage of the propeller. The engines operate on the turbine principle.

The liner was easing toward LaGuardia through light rain and fog, in 33-degree weather with the ceiling about 300 to 400 feet.

It plummeted into the river between 2,500 and 4,000 feet short of the shoreline start of the runway. The force of the impact cracked the plane in two.

The disaster scene was only about half a mile from Rikers island, where a Northeast Airliner crashed after takeoff in a snowstorm Feb. 1, 1957.

Twenty of the 94 persons man, 36, of North Plainfield, N.J., told newsmen at Queens La Guardia from the north-east.

The last contact was made as the plane flew over a range station, 2.8 miles from the end of the runway.

"At this time, the pilot acknowledged clearance to land," Blatt said. Normal altitude for the plane over the range station was 800 feet.

Blatt said the plane was coming in on one radio beam which told the pilot if he was directly in line with the runway. The pilot did not have a second radio beam, which operated at the runway's other end.

As the search continued for more survivors, the pilot of a police helicopter reported that a swift current was carrying bodies out into Long Island sound.

"We heard a terrific crash," said Everett Phelps, 48, co-skipper of the tug. "The but with the help of some noise seemed to come from about 800 feet away. We turned away from them in the darkness on a searchlight and saw wing. I had been sitting in the front of the ship, and I guess I was just lucky."

Phelps said his crew had picked up eight survivors using boat hooks for some, before the wreckage slipped away from them in the darkness.

Coast guard boats raced to the scene and gave a tragic report of "picking up bodies everywhere."

Critically Hurt
A temporary morgue was set up at a nearby Queens Point, and survivors were rushed to Flushing hospital. Joseph D. Blatt, FAA regional administrator, said the plane was making a "standard instrument approach" to

Water Plant Work To Cost $215,092

Council Okays Bids for Addition, Install Million Gallon Filter

Menasha — Four bids totaling $215,092 for construction of an addition to the water filtration plant and installation of a 1-million gallon filter were approved by the council Tuesday night.

The bids were opened Friday by the board of public works and water and light commission. Total cost of the project is $222 less than the $215,314 estimated cost.

The general construction contract was awarded to Fluor Brothers Construction company, Oshkosh, for $151,314. Fourteen bids were submitted for the work.

A 15-foot strip along the Fox river will be filled in to allow construction of the addition at the rear of the present plant. A city-owned boat house located on the site where the addition will be built will be torn down by the park department.

J. W. Hewitt Estate Set At $500,000

Winneconne Man Gave Widow, Son Bulk of Property

Oshkosh — A value of $496,061 was placed on the estate of the late John W. Hewitt, Sr., Winneconne, who died Aug. 2, 1952, according to an inheritance tax report filed Tuesday with County Judge Herbert J. Mueller.

Hewitt had been founder and president of the J. W. Hewitt Machine company and Hewitt Transmission company of Neenah.

The property included $12,500 in real estate, $337,086 in personal property and over $55,000 in insurance. Another $7,942 was in a profit sharing plan.

A son, John W. Hewitt, Jr., Winneconne, is to receive a share valued at $171,921 and the widow will receive a share valued at $123,471. Other bequests include $1,000 each to Our Savior's Lutheran church of Neenah and the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children at Chicago.

Bequests also were made to other relatives.

An inventory filed in the estate of the late William Lynch, town of Menasha, who died Sept. 8, lists the value of his property at $81,075, of which $25,000 is in real estate and the balance in stocks and bank savings and checking accounts.

28 Bids Submitted

C. A. Hooper of Madison will provide mixer and sludge removal equipment and a filter operating table for $34,000 and will install this equipment plus an aeration system and piping for another $28,800.

Langstadt, Inc., Neenah, was awarded the electrical contract for $978. There were 28 bids submitted for the four projects.

A bid of $131,736 submitted by William Warner Construction company, Inc., for general construction was withdrawn after the company proved it had made a clerical mistake and the bid actually should have been $151,736.

Work will start in the next few days and the project is to be completed in 210 days.

40 Pupils Participate

Twin City Scientists Help Train Young People for a Future in Field

Menasha — A group of Twin City chemists, physicists, mathematicians and engineers has heeded the call to train more young people for a future in science.

About 20 career men are offering their knowledge of the sciences to 40 St. Mary High school students via a 90 minute lecture - question class once a week.

The after-hour science class was conceived when the school faculty and a group of scientists felt something should be done about the shortage of able and trained scientists in the United States.

After a thorough discussion, the faculty agreed the men could start the program in January. It was decided the students would only have to attend the classes if they desired.

30 Seniors Enrolled

About 30 seniors taking science courses showed up for the first lesson the first week in January. Then 10 outstanding sophomore and junior science students were allowed to participate after two classes had been held.

The fifth class was held Tuesday night from 7:30 to 9 p.m. and it is reported the turnout at the five classes held thus far has been almost 100 per cent each time.

The teachers have set up a 3-step program, "stimulate, guide and acquaint." First, they plan to stimulate the student's interest in science and then through guidance and acquaintance with the instructors the pupils can choose what field of science they reached by the end of the next school year.

It is hoped the students will be far enough along to have a program for the parents at the end of this school term. The lectures will end in March and then the pupils will be broken up into groups for special studies.

Physics has been the major topic of discussion so far but there are plans to have other fields brought in, including medicine.

It is believed the extra information will help the students decide what courses they want to take in college or do in the future.

Paul Klein, Richard Auchter, Edward Graves and James Loynd are members of the committee which developed the program.

3 Men Named To City Board

Menasha Mayor Appoints Trio to Recreation Body

Menasha — Mayor R. G. DuCharme's appointment of three men to the recreation board was approved by the city council Tuesday night.

Named to serve 3-year terms were Edward Gavinski, 332 Eighth street; Floyd Fenske, 739 Racine street; and William MacFarlane, 610 Second street. MacFarlane will take the place of Cyril Reuter, 744 First street, who had to decline reelection because his working hours interfered with meeting times.

The council was informed by Neenah Mayor Chester Bell that Neenah has included its half of the cost of resurfacing Nicolet boulevard from Washington to Third streets in the 1959 budget. Neenah had to take the project out of its 1958 budget when several anticipated revenues fell short.

240-Pint Quota Set For Bloodmobile Visit

Red Cross Unit to be Located at Congregational Church for Two Days

Menasha — The Red Cross bloodmobile will make a 2-day visit to the Twin Cities Thursday and Friday with a goal of 240 pints of blood. It will be located at the First Congregational church at Milwaukee and Broad streets.

The Neenah Red Cross chapter is sponsoring this visit and the center will be open from noon to 5 p.m. Thursday and 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Friday, according to Mrs. F. W. Grupe, blood bank service in the unit's stay is taken to the Badger Regional Blood center at Madison. When blood is needed by Twin City residents, it is obtained from the Madison center.

Anyone between 18 and 59, may become a blood donor if he weighs at least 110 pounds. Prior illnesses or physical conditions which might disqualify a person as a donor will be revealed when he is interviewed at the center prior to giving blood. Donors under 21 need parental consent.

Mrs. Grupe stressed that new donors constantly are needed to support the local blood bank program.

Workers who will be assisting at Thursday and Friday's visit of the bloodmobile are: Service — the Mmes. James don Peterson, Ralph Bonfig-Crust, Ralph Miedke, Jay Gil-lingham, Charles St. Pierre, Walter Strong, Leon Tolver, Elmer Schultheis, Donald Luebke, Donald Severson, Gilbert Bayley, Arthur Crox-son, Arthur Remley, George Christoph, Frank Dvorak and Laurence Zick;

Name Assistant Vice President of Kimberly-Clark

Neenah — Paul J. Glaister, 603 E. Wisconsin avenue, patent and trademark counsel for Kimberly-Clark corporation, has been appointed an assistant vice president of the firm.

John R. Kimberly, president and Kimberly - Clark board chairman, announced today.

Glaister joined Kimberly-Clark May 1, 1956, and formerly was a member of the Chicago law firm which served as patent and trademark counsel for Kimberly-Clark for many years.

The new assistant vice president is a graduate of Cornell university where he received a degree in electrical engineering and studied law at Duquesne university and Loyola university, receiving his doctor of jurisprudence degree from the latter in 1937.

Group Approves Hawaii as State

Washington — The house interior committee today approved a bill to make Hawaii the 50th state.

Rep. Leo W. O'Brien (D-NY), acting committee chairman, said the 25-4 vote reflected overwhelming congressional sentiment in favor of admitting Hawaii this year.

The bill now goes to the house rules committee, after a one-week delay for filing of formal reports.

It is up to the rules group to schedule house action.

Twin City Stores Offer Bargains for Dollar Day Sales

Neenah — Dollar days in the Twin Cities are being observed Thursday, Friday and Saturday this week. Merchants have cut prices on thousands of items including men's, women's and children's clothing, houseware articles, shoes, furniture, food, office supplies and hardware items.

Several restaurants and coffee counters are serving free coffee to shoppers with coupons obtained from merchants. The event is sanctioned by the retail division of Neenah-Menasha Chamber of Commerce.

Widow Agrees to Suit Settlement

Oshkosh — Damages of $4,000 were stipulated in the suit of Mrs. Virginia Hall, Neenah, against Home Mutual Casualty company of Appleton. She was asking $25,000 damages for the death of her husband Sidney Hall, who died of injuries in an automobile accident on Highway 150 near Winchester April 29, 1958.

The case was dismissed from the current term of circuit court by Circuit Judge H. F. Arps. She charged negligence on the part of Warren Schesser, route 1, Larsen, caused the fatal accident.

Proposed Opening of Cedar Street Discussed

Neenah — Owners of property abutting a proposed extension of Cedar street between Fairview avenue and Laudan boulevard met Tuesday night with a council committee to discuss the opening of the street.

Sentiment was divided among the owners as to whether the street should be opened. City officials expressed the view that while the opening would be a desirable improvement, the city would wait until the property owners were fairly unanimously in favor of the opening.

Judy Beck, Nancy Becker, Barbara Miller and Faye Donna Breaker, Ruth Ann Yankee.
Christianson, Janet Fowler, William Freund, Jane Gavin, Ruth Ann Herbst and Grant Nelson.

Sophomores

Those from the sophomore class were Arthur Becker, Sandra Cizek, Barbara Kinsler, Carol Korn, James La-Belle and Karen Umland.

The freshman class placed Clyde Boismenuue, Bernadette Broehm, Wayne Combs, Kathleen Deilemann, Sandra Fow-Hanneman, Nancy Henell,
Bonnie Keough, Karen Kinney

Students not on the first semester honor roll but on the
"A" and "B" honor roll for the second 9-weeks period were Janet Wiesner, a senior;
Leah Kieiman and Dorothy Meyerhofer, juniors; Suzanne Schmoker, sophomore; and Judith Anunson, Nancy Brant-mier, Roger Brill, Vickie Bu-veske and Judy Herbst, freshmen.

Pulitzer Prize Book At Library

Menasha — "Look Homeward Angel," winner of the 1958 Pulitzer Prize for drama and the New York Drama Critics' Circle award, is available at the Elisha D. Smith
Public library. Librarian Marvin Melick announced today.

The play, by Ketti Frings from the novel by Thomas Wolfe, captures the essence of what Wolfe had to say. Wolfe's works are now great American classics and he has been acclaimed the authentic voice of the younger generation.

Another addition, Leon Wolff's "In Flanders Fields," tells the dramatic reappraisal of one of the most controversial campaigns in modern history, the human story behind the Flanders offensive, where 150,000 Allied soldiers died in the mud around Ypres and Passchendaele.

TV Repair Book

Other new non-fiction books include the beautifully illustrated "The American Heritage Book of the Revolution," Wolcott Gibbs' "More in Sorrow," containing parodies, profiles, short stories and theater reviews; a revised edition of "The Handbook of Television Repair" by Robert Hertzberg; and volume 3 of the new book-magazine "Horizon."

New fiction this week includes "Mrs. Bridge" by Evan Connel, the story of a woman who wants to be the self-effacing wife to her ambitious husband and an understanding mother to their three children; "The Intruder" by Charles Beaumont, the story of a southern town and the influence of an organizer who disrupts this already integrated town;

C. P. Snow's "The Search," about a scientist; Talbot Mundy's "Tros of Samothrace," a historical novel of some 2,000 years ago; and three new mysteries, "Dead of Summer" by Josephine Gill, "13th Annual" by Ellery Queen; and
"The Case of the Deadly Toy" by Earle Stanley Gardner.

Appleton Driver Injured When Car Goes Into Ditch

Oshkosh — William G. Kar-ras, 30, of 1211 N. Richmond street, Appleton, was taken to Theda Clark hospital after his car spun out of control into a ditch along County Trunk A in the town of Neenah at 4:36 this morning.

Karras complained of neck and spine injuries and was to undergo X-rays. He said he was traveling north on A at about 40 miles per hour when his car started pulling to the right. He applied the brakes and the car went into a spin, knocking down about 40 feet of electric fence before ending up in the ditch. Investigating county traffic police discovered the right front tire had blown out.

Bergstrom Credit Union to Mark 25th Anniversary at Dinner

Neenah — The Bergstrom Paper company credit union will mark its 25th anniversary at its annual dinner meeting at 6 p.m. tonight at the Elks club in Menasha. The original officers and charter members will be guests. Officers will be elected and annual reports presented. An entertainment program will follow the business session.

Lawyer's Slip Ends Damage Suit Trial

Honolulu —P— A slip of a lawyer's tongue ended a damage suit trial here even before it got started.

Attorney Myer Symonds, questioning the first prospective juror, asked if she had ever been insured by an insurance company.

The opposing lawyer challenged the question and the judge declared a mistrial.

Symonds said later he had intended to ask whether the juror had ever been employed by an insurance company.

Council Names Committee to Study New Job

Menasha Aldermen Consider Having Public Works Head

Menasha — A 3-man committee to study the establishment of a director of public works and a full-time building and plumbing inspector, was approved by the council Tuesday night.

On the committee are Mayor R. G. DuCharme, Ald. Fred Rohloff and City Engineer Melvin Noth. The city already has advertised for a building and plumbing inspector.

Albert Pawlowski, 817 Third street; Alvin Stratton, 321 Sixth street; Andrew Brodzinski, 712 First street; Thomas Koslowski, 634 Broad street; Frank Shemanski, 824 Second street; Paul Radtke, 608 Broad street; and Florian Cheslock, 716 Second street, were appointed to bridgetenders jobs.

The council turned $430 over to the Neenah-Menasha sewerage commission. The money came from town of Menasha residents living on Ninth street who had their sewage treated by the Twin City plant.

An application from E. E. Mueske for a license to operate three taxi cabs in the city was turned over to the committee of the whole for investigation. Mueske said he would operate the cabs from his filling station at the corner of Manitowoc street and Plank road.

Tells Society

Family Interest, Time, Money Determines Landscaping

Oshkosh — The extent of the landscaping project around a home depends upon the interest of the family, the amount of time they have to devote to it and the amount of money they have to spend for horticultural plantings, County Agent Vernon W. Peroutky told members of the Oshkosh Horticultural society at its meeting Monday night.

Thumb rules, Peroutky said in a landscaping project are to make a plan, to have a purpose, to create variety, to have the plantings in a natural setting and to keep the landscape young by pruning and changing it as years pass.

Shrubs, trees and flowers are basic plantings for the landscape, he added. The county agent suggested that a general theme be carried out such as keeping the central lawn area clear of shrubs and that the outlying area may be devoted to flower beds and shrubbery.

Tall shrubbery. A big house justifies more tall shrubbery and a heavier planting of evergreens. A small house on the other hand should have more openings between shrubs. In these areas flowers lend themselves most adequately.

Reasons for shrubbery, Peroutky explained, were to hide the foundation, to tie the house to the landscape, to emphasize the doorway entrance, to serve as a boundary between the front and back yard or between properties, to screen off a view, to enframe a view and to add color and interest.

Tall shrubs that will do well in 1948. That accident resulted in the area being posted with warnings for skiers to stay in a prescribed ski area nearby.

Walker, also 21 and from Seattle, his wife, and MacGivern apparently were in search of powder snow favored by expert skiers.

They ventured into the area known as Walsh's Gulch, near from 10 feet of snow by his companion, Richard Walker, and other rescuers.

Fails to Heed Warning, Skier Dies in Avalanche

Aspen, Colo. — Three young skiers ventured onto a posted trail yesterday and touched off a thundering avalanche of snow and rock. One of the three was killed.

The body of Gary MacGivern, 21, of Seattle, was dug from 10 feet of snow by his companion, Richard Walker, and other rescuers.

Plywood Oshkosh, Inc. To Build $100,000 Plant

Addition of Second $50,000 Press
To Hike Employment by 50 Workers

Oshkosh — Plywood Oshkosh, Inc., will begin construction this spring of a new plant on the Vinland road. C. H. Ganz, manager, announced this morning.

A 15-acre area site near the Chicago and North Western right-of-way has been purchased and architects are working on plans for the 250,000 sq. ft. plant which will cost approximately $100,000.

The new plant will add more warehouse and shipping room also. A 5-car siding will handle the increased shipping.

25 Pupils Named To Honor Roll

Menasha — Twenty-five St. John Catholic Grade school sixth, seventh and eighth graders have been named to the second quarter honor roll.

Eighth graders receiving the honor were Pat Swieczkowski, Barbara Pawelczke, Joanne Flemming, Glen Schwalbach, John Maciejewski, Mary Bridges, Julie Wank which are exceeding our fondest expectations."

Although each machine requires only two men to serve it, the increased production will increase employment.

The new lacquer-pouring machines, housed in a pressurized building to keep out dust, will turn out 5,000 finished plywood panels each shift. The plant at present is running one shift a day.

The finishing machines sand the sheets of plywood, apply a certain of lacquer sealer with or without a stain, dry the lacquer, buff it and apply a second coat of lacquer which also is dried. The finished panels are being used increasingly for interiors of homes and buildings.

Heiss and Kathryn Bachhuber.

Named from the seventh grade were Jerome Weisgerber, Daniel Usky, James Walter, Mary Lehrer, Jon Beachkofski, Constance Coenen, Patricia Wojcik, James Long and Marilyn Magalski.

Sixth graders selected were Nancy Jones, Kathleen Swiontek, Elizabeth Zihusch, Helen Releigh, Wanda Hotynski and Michael Smith.

List Program for Golden Age Event

Neenah — The program for the ninth anniversary birthday banquet of Neenah Golden Age club was announced today. The banquet will be held at 6:30 Feb. 16 at Menasha Elks club.

The club was started on Feb. 21, 1950 with 26 people attending the first meeting. It has grown to a membership of about 180 and is open to anyone 60 years of age or older.

An hour of entertainment will follow the dinner and will include a ventriloquist act by 11 year old Jean Berken of Appleton. After Jean's solo performance, she will be joined by her three sisters for a vocal quartet. The girls' mother will be the accompanist. A barbershop chorus from Little Chute and Kaukauna, the "Kau-Chute Korders" will present several selections.

After the entertainment program, a local dance band will play for "old-time" dancing with cards and table games available for those not wishing to dance.

Neighboring Golden Age clubs have been invited to attend the event. Tickets are available at the Neenah recreation building with the ticket deadline, Feb. 13. Tickets must be purchased in advance of the banquet.

'Last Chance' Dance Planned By Coed Club

Neenah — "Last Chance" dance will be sponsored by the Coed club from 8 to midnight Tuesday at the Menasha Memorial building. A local orchestra will play for dancing at the event, the last dance of the club until after Easter.

The club's steering committee includes Al Bosser, David Rusch, Genevieve Fosdahl and Theresa Bertagnoli. The club is sponsored by the YW-CA and Neenah and Menasha recreation departments.

The dance is open to single young adults beyond high school age.

Junior KD Circle

Menasha — Frances Gilbert circle, Junior circle of the King's Daughters, will begin a new service project of folding cancer dressings at 7 p. m. Monday at the Visiting Nurse association house, 406 E. Wisconsin avenue. Neenah.

Confer Degree

Menasha — The Royal Arch degree will be conferred at the 7:30 p. m. Thursday session of Island City chapter, Royal Arch Masons at Menasha Masonic hall.

celery seed, onion juice, curry powder or pimiento to the savory spread. Another sandwich filling might be sardines combined with chopped hard-cooked egg and moistened with lemon juice. Or combine two ounces blue cheese, one three-ounce package of cream cheese, one tablespoon mayonnaise and one tablespoon crisp, diced bacon.

Vary Fillings In Sandwiches For Club Teas

Oshkosh — Thousands of dainty and trimly cut tea sandwiches are served during the course of a year by club women. There is a tendency to repeat standard fillings while a wide assortment of well seasoned fillings is available to choose from.

One savory spread is made by combining one cup finely shredded tuna, crabmeat, shrimp or lobster with one cup finely cut celery, one-fourth cup chopped green pepper, one-half cup savory butter, one-half cup mayonnaise and lemon juice to taste.

Savory butter is made by creaming one cup butter and adding one teaspoon prepared mustard, two teaspoons lemon juice, one-half teaspoon white pepper and one-fourth teaspoon Worcester'shire sauce. Beat until light and fluffy.

For variety, add paprika.

Life Membership Pins Were awarded at the annual life membership tea of the United Lutheran church women of St. Timothy Lutheran church Tuesday evening. Awards chairman, Mrs. Carl Meyer, left, is shown making the presentations to the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Jacobson and Mrs. Roger Wright.

Status of Russian Literature, Subject For Tuesday Club

Neenah — The paradoxical status of literature in Russia, a country which has produced such renowned writers as Anton Chekhov, Feodor Dostoevsky and Leo Nikolayevich Tolstoy, and a country which has refused to publish the Nobel prize winning "Doctor Zhivago" by Boris Pasternak was interpreted by a Russian-born professor for Woman's Tuesday club members.

Dr. Wacław Jedrzejewicz, Whitney visiting professor of Russian studies at Ripon college, in tracing the development of literature, pointed out Russia had no great writers until the 19th century.

He illustrated the quality of writing produced in a relatively short span by relating how three of the 12 best books written between 1850-1950, as selected by a number of French writers, had Russian authors. When W. Somerset Maugham was asked to name the 10 best books in world literature, he too chose Tolstoy and Dostoevsky.

'Great Literature'

"Russian literature is splendid, one of the greatest literatures of the world," Dr. Jedrzejewicz said. The great change in the literature came after the 1917 Bolshevik revolution, he said, explaining before communism, writers could write anything they pleased, but after the revolution, the Soviet authority wanted to have literature serve the communist cause.

Communist literature is a literature based on realism and written within a specified code, which contains the ideals of communism, pointed out the speaker. "In such conditions you cannot have Chekhovs, Dostoevskys and Tolstoy. They cannot write." Russian literature based on these rules is extremely boring literature, he said.

Changes

After the death of Stalin, there was a slight degree of change in the rigidity of authority imposed on the writers, said Dr. Jedrzejewicz, who lived in Poland before becoming a citizen of the United States. "The new trend in Russian literature started in 1954." Since that time, three books, "The Thaw," "Not By Bread Alone" and "Doctor m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. Alicia Bart, 663 Winnet-

Neenah — Preliminary plans for a poppy sale and selection of a Badger Girls' State representative will be made at an executive committee meeting of American Legion auxiliary to the Hawley-Dieckhoff post at 7:30 p. m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. Alicia Bart, 663 Winnetcome avenue. The auxiliary will hold a covered dish supper at 6:30 p. m. Monday at the clubhouse with husbands of members and post members and their wives as guests.

Mrs. Louis Schmidt is chairman of a program on "Americanism." Cards will follow the supper program.

K of C Plans 'Hard Times' Dance Event

Menasha — A "hard times" dance has been scheduled by the K of C council, Knights of Columbus for 9 to 1 a. m. Friday at the K of C clubhouse. A local orchestra will play for dancing with refreshments being served cabaret style. Co-chairmen of the event are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Christensen. They will be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Duane Coenen, Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Giese, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Koteski, Mr. and Mrs. William McFadden, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schneider, Mr. and Mrs. George Clifford and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Quinn.

In a brief discussion of Boris Pasternak's book, "Doctor Zhivago" is a revolutionary book in its presentation of communist life," Pasternak is the second Russian writer to have won the Nobel prize.

"Among the Russian men of letters there is great talent. Communism does not permit it to be shown freely. But it does exist," stated the chairman of the Russian department at Wellesley college from 1949-58.

Ballet Theater

In an examination of Russian culture in general, Dr. Jedrzejewicz pointed out the achievements in music, the ballet and theater, but none in sculpture or painting. There are no names in these fields like those of Anna Pavlova in ballet or Rachmaninoff and Rimsky-Korsakov in music, he said.

Dr. Jedrzejewicz served as minister of Poland to Japan from 1925-28 and held many other posts in the Polish government until 1936. "Safari to Africa" will be presented by Miss Mary Ebbesen at next week's program.

Merrymakers Club Schedules 'Space' Party

Menasha — "Satellite Swing" is the theme of the dance scheduled for Saturday evening by the Merrymakers Dance club. The event will be held from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. at S. A. Cook armory with Mr. and Mrs. John Pingel as chairmen.

Committee members are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Emerich, Mr. and Mrs. Florian Hoelzel, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Saxton, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Wenzel, Mr. and Mrs. Edward De Roche, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Coenen and Mr. and Mrs. Lauren Spence.

Pads, Removable Covers Necessary Ironing Aids

Oshkosh — Good pads and removable covers for ironing boards are necessary for the best surface, best results in ironing, and protection to the board.

A simple cloth or several layers of an old blanket laid out smoothly and basted or sewed together makes a good pad. Too heavy a pad may gather moisture and mildew. Make the pad eight inches longer and wider than the board. Miter and pin the pad using large safety pins at the small end of the board, drawing toward the board end until smooth and firm. Then miter the corners and pin.

Cover

Make a cover from medium-grade unbleached muslin, drill or firm bleached sacks. To use sacks, lay salvage or muslin can be used for the edges together so they just meet, whip loosely to avoid a ridge. To find the amount of material needed, measure the length of the board, add eight extra inches at the wide end and enough at the opposite end to double back to the point where the board begins to widen or to the supporting cross bar underneath. Allow for shrinkage.

Lay the material on the board so it hangs eight inches down over the broad end, five inches over one side at widest part of the board and the remainder over the other side. Adjust so the lengthwise thread runs the full length of the center of the board and pin on this line.

Form Hood

At the small end of the board, fold back the remaining material onto the board so that the fold is even with end of the board. To form the hood, pin or baste around the small end through both thicknesses one inch from the edge of the top surface of the board.

For seam allowance cut cloth one-half inch from pins or basting. Then slant sharply to meet the straight edge to the side where five inches were allowed. Fold at the pinned center line and cut other side. Stitch on the pin or basting line to form the hood. Either cotton twilled tape To use sacks, lay salvage or muslin can be used for the edges together so they just meet, whip loosely to avoid a ridge. To find the amount of material needed, measure the length of the board, add eight extra inches at the wide end and enough at the opposite end to double back to the point where the board begins to widen or to the supporting cross bar underneath. Neenah — Company I, the first round champion, and Neenah Paper, the runnerup, collide at 9 o'clock tonight at the Roosevelt gym in the feature game on the Neenah Industrial Basketball league schedule.

Company I bested Lakeview in its initial second half start last week while Neenah Paper drew the bye. The national guard entry registered a 45-42 win in the first meeting.

Other contests to night match Bergstrom's against Main Office at 7 o'clock and Neenah Foundry against Lakeview at 8 o'clock. Headquarters draws the bye.

Tumbling Lessons are Being Given to Menasha public school students for the first time this year. Emmett Boyce, grade school physical education instructor, sends a couple of Clovis-Grove grade school fifth graders through a basic tumbling routine while the other students watch.

Stordock Powers 712 Honor Count in Neenah City Wheel

Neenah — Paul Stordock jolted a 712 national honor count series in the Neenah City league Tuesday night at Muench's Recreation alleys.

The national honor total was the fifth of the season for Twin City male keggers and the first since Ken Peterson belted a 720 at Lakewood on Oct. 9.

The other honor scores were Al Muench's 710 on Sept. 5, a 669 set, with a 245 line. Evan "Sam" Handy's 700 on Oct. 17 and a 703 by Erhart "Hezzie" Lang on Nov. 6. Stordock, who had a 713 national count on Jan. 9, 1957 in the Oshkosh Classic league, Ruddy 245-621, Don Christenincluded a 287 game in his sen 226-617, and Joe Spilski peak threesome, getting 233-601. The Sylvester Meehls Have a curiosity in their Christmas tree. It was cut from a spruce windbreak planted 14 years ago two weeks before Christmas. Their son, Kenneth, carefully kept the stand filled with water and the room was kept cool. The results are the sprouting of new growth at the end of the branches. Visitors at their route 1, Menasha, home are amazed at the growing tree. Some of the branches have put on better than three inches of new growth and Mrs. Meehl hasn't decided when she is going to take the tree out-doors.

Freshmen See Action Against Appleton Teams

Neenah — The Neenah freshmen will attempt to avenge one of their two Valley Freshman league losses when they play at Appleton Roosevelt Thursday afternoon.

Menasha draws a bye from league play but will play Appleton St. Mary there in a non-conference tangle.

Roosevelt bested Neenah 41-36 in the first game of the season. Since then the Rockets have recorded five wins, including a non-league triumph over New London, and they've lost one.

Menasha has an overall 7-1 record going into its first meeting against the Appleton parochial school. It bested Little Chute St. John in its only other non-league outing.

NHS Rabbit Trappers Capture 178 Bunnies

Neenah — The Neenah High school Conservation club's rabbit trapping total has reached 178. The project began in December and continues until mid March.

The club will hold a toboggan party Saturday afternoon at Calamet park.

K-C Honors Safety Crews At Neenah Mill

Responsibility Lies With Individual,
Speakers Stress

Neenah — Individual responsibility for safe working was stressed at the annual safety dinner meeting of Kimberly-Clark corporation's Neenah Mill recently.

Knowing the rules is not enough, the speakers emphasized. Each worker must make those rules a part of every action if accident prevention is to be a reality. Each worker must accept individual responsibility for his own safe working habits and he must, in some measure, be his brother's keeper.

Principal speaker for the evening was Harry Pierce, manager of Kimberly mill where employees have achieved a consistently outstanding record for safe working. He stressed the importance of meaning "what you say about safety regulations. I would discipline a supervisor as I would a laborer if he was working unsafely."

Union Heads Speak

Royal Cluberton, president of Local 482, International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Papermill Workers, said there is need for more enthusiasm among hourly paid workers for their own safety. The foremen and hourly paid must team together to do this accident prevention job. "We've got to be real believers in safety, we've got to think safety is really first."

Lewis Mittlestead, representing Local 467, International Brotherhood of Papermakers, emphasized that "safety has to be sold every day to every individual. It has to be sold so well that it becomes a part of every worker's everyday thinking, his daily habits."

In discussing the Kimberly mill's safety experience, consistently in the national honor ranking, Pierce said he was "firmly convinced that there is no more mystery to safety than there is to costs and quality. Safety is part of the discussion at our cost and quality meetings. 'There is no one key to safe mill operation. You do not get it by slogans or prizes alone, although they are stimulants. It requires a good program and real action.'"

Paul Groth, personnel superintendent at Neenah mill announced the program which featured such other speakers as Robert Wood, corporation staff safety supervisor; Ted Perry, manager of Neenah mill; Art Homblette, mill safety supervisor; Ted Perry, manager of Neenah mill; Art Homblette, mill safety supervisor; Cliff Burton and Sylvester Mauthe presented a safety skit in which the dinner guests participated.

Steering Committees

Recognition was given to members of the old and new Neenah mill safety steering committee. The new committee for 1959 includes Ted Perry, Paul Groth, Tom Hoover, John Tomsyck, Fred Hollenbeck, Art Homblette, Roy Cluberton, Robert Skalmoski, Robert McCann, Lewis Mittlestead and Don Sipe. The current safety promotional committee includes Clyde Neuenfett, chairman; Cliff Burton, Art Homblette, Russell Arnold, Marilyn Behnke, and Sylvester Mauthe.

The mill's toxic and flammable materials safety committee includes Kenneth Kralke, George Parker, Sylvester Demerath, Elmer Sierert, Stanley Hass, Anton Kuehl, John Bestler and Homblette.

Union representatives on the investigating committee are Dan Arlt and Harold Solomon. Departmental safety chairman for 1959 include Don Sipe, Patricia Schultz, Byron Bacon, Richard Georgeson, Dan Woltersheim, Sylvester Mauthe, Forrest Stumpkes, Paul Becker, Lewis Mittlestead, Gordon McCann, William Freye, Dorothy Buss, William Galligan, Nelie Yankee, Herman Meyer and Stanley Wilson.

In Good Taste 2 Friends Should Not Feel Hurt

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently I went to a church dance with two other girls. At the dance I met a very nice boy. We danced a lot with each other and had a wonderful time. At about 11 o'clock my friends decided to leave and wanted me to go home with them. The boy with whom I had been dancing asked me to stay and said that he would walk home with me. I accepted. My friends haven't spoken to me since and I have learned from others that they are very much put out with me for leaving them flat. Will you please tell me if I was wrong not to leave with them?

Answer: If instead of three, you had been two girls going to the dance together, you would most certainly have left your friend flat if you had made her walk home alone. As it was though, unless you three had made plans to have supper together after the dance, it was not inconsiderate of you to stay on after they left.

Name of Deceased

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me how the name of a deceased married woman should be printed in a church bulletin? Her husband wishes to put flowers in her memory in the church chancel. Should it be, "In loving memory of Mrs. John Doe," "Mrs. Mary Jane Doe" or "Mary Maidenname Doe"?

Answer: "Mrs. John Doe" is correct.

St. Paul Aid Sets Valentine Potluck Supper on Sunday

Mrs. Kenneth Engelman. Left, was the guest speaker at the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the junior Tri-Y girls clubs. She discussed teenage social problems of dating and going steady. With her are Christine Solberg, Barbara Jenkins and Sandy Hale, left to right.

Postpone Going Steady For Young Teens, Says Mrs. Kenneth Engelman

Seventh, eighth and ninth grade Tri-Y members Tuesday afternoon got some answers to their questions about going steady, necking and petting when Mrs. Kenneth Engelman, wife of the assistant pastor at the First Methodist church, spoke.

She said that going steady depends on the maturity of the girl, how old she is and how soon, and could easily become preoccupied with the consideration of marriage.

A girl needs to know, to associate with different boys, so when the "right boy" comes along she will know he has the qualities which she wants in a husband.

Mrs. Engelman added that if a girl goes steady, she then must develop her own set of standards for her conduct with that boy when their relationship is more than a casual acquaintance or date. A girl needs backbone to know that she should behave correctly," Mrs. Engelman declared.

Knowledge of Sex As to necking and petting, the speaker stated that a girl who has the reputation as being one who pets may be popular with certain types of boys and girls. But she will not be popular or have a fine reputation as a girl with the pleasant personality who is a school leader. The girl has to make her own decision as to what type of popularity she deems important, Mrs. Engelman said.

Another problem these young teenagers wanted to know about was how much they should discuss sex with each other and their parents. Mrs. Engelman felt that the girls should discuss sex frankly and fully in a wholesome manner, with tact, since they may be able to help each other.

However, she asserted the first place to discuss sex is with the mother. If she is reticent to talk with her daughter about it, the teenager should ask another adult, such as her teacher, school nurse or minister's wife.

Dating Problems

The Tri-Y girls enjoyed discussing how to be a good date. They concluded that intelligence, good-grooming, having a variety of interests, good manners and showing an interest in others are important attributes for any girl to possess.

Dating at this young teenage age is limited to early-hour return after a date and the lack of a car. To avoid boredom Mrs. Engelman suggested that a little creativity in planning a date is needed. Plan unusual parties and stay at home on a date, or ask your parents if you can bring a group of young people to the house after a movie to make popcorn, she advised.

One of the young girls said that if the parents are warned ahead of time they will see to it that younger brothers and sisters are out from under foot

Busy Wife Can't Plan for Husband Home for Lunch

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: Surely I'm not alone in this problem. Please help me and other wives whose husbands insist on coming home for lunch every day. It's knocking me out.

Maybe I'm not budgeting my time properly but I never seem to get through a day's work. My schedule looks something like this: Pop leaves at 8:00 a.m. Child off to school at 9:00. Pop home for lunch at 11:30. Child home for lunch at 12:00. House full of little visitors all afternoon. Pop home from work at 4:00 p.m.

I'd like to greet my husband, all fresh and charming and happy to see him, but how can a wife be happy to see a guy who has just left? And how can she be beautiful when she hasn't had time to wash her face or comb her hair?

I've suggested politely that he eat lunch out (and he can afford it) but he sulks, looks hurt and says "I love to see you during the day. Sorry it's not mutual."

Please, Ann, come up with a solution.—JUST TIRED.

You're more than just tired—You're a poor manager.

This is not a criticism, it's a comment, because in my

For the past several months I've been writing to a college girl I used to date when we were in high school together.

I have a 2-week vacation coming up pretty soon and I'd like to visit this girl at school and meet some of the fabulous people she's been writing about.

I wrote her of my idea and she sent me an airmail special delivery letter saying she's very busy studying during the week and all her weekends are booked from now until school is out for spring vacation.

I've always wanted to see that part of the country and have my heart set on going. Maybe if I just show up she'll squeeze me in some place. What's your advice, Cousin?—GREG.

Dear Cousin: I'm going to talk to you like a Dutch Aunt. You've received the Fall Fuller—the brush, that is.

Now wipe the egg off your chin and let the girl alone. There's lots of pretty scenery in this country. Go somewhere else.

DEAR ANN: I've been married seven years and have three darling children. My parents were divorced one month after I was married. They never got along and I'm sure their divorce was planned for years before it actually happened.

The problem is this: I love my father dearly, and so does my husband. Our children think there's no one like "Boomp." Next month is the oldest son's birthday and he says he wants "Boomp" at his party more than anyone.

My mother says if I invite him she'll not attend. She also says I'm being disloyal to her by being friendly with her "ex-husband" as she calls him. I love my mother, too, but I'm totally in the dark as to how to handle this mess. Advice?—DALLA.

Dear DALLA: Your mother's "ex-husband" is your present father and it was she who selected him. Just because they're divorced doesn't mean you must shut him out of your life.

If the feeling is so bad between them that they simply cannot be in the same house, then alternate, and invite "Boomp" to the birthday party and your mother for Easter Sunday.

Our Children

All Youngsters Have 'Taking' Tendencies

BY ANGELO PATRI

Picking up things and carrying them off to add them to their belongings is characteristic of childhood.

The small boy is likely to do this and bring down grief upon his unknowing head.

This child has scant knowledge of the sacredness of possessions. All he knows is that he likes having things like shovels and pails, toy automobiles, any plaything—and the way to have them is to reach for them.

When this happens, wise mothers tell the youngsters to take the things back to their right owner and to keep hands off things that are not their own. They would not like Tommy to come into their yards and lift their toys.

If it is not right for Tommy, it is not right for them. And use the word "right."

These little ones have no understanding of right and wrong. That must come to them by experiences in later years. The word must come first and experience will give it meaning that brings correct behavior.

Older Child

When this taking idea lasts into later childhood, even into the early adolescent years, it is something else. What that is, we have to find out before this becomes a habit, a way of behavior.

Pride of possession is a wholesome quality of character provided it is not allowed to dominate the personality. Owning things builds up a feeling of worth-whileness in the owner, gives him standing in his own mind and in the community.

This every grownup man and woman knows and understands.

The child who is neglected at home, the one who is failing in school, the one ignored by his group because he cannot keep up his end—either in the games or the give and take of the group—is likely to try such artificial aids as pilfering, boasting and bad behavior. This child is a problem for his teacher.

Valentine's Day Has Fascinating History

Love has written some of history's most fascinating and memorable chapters, and points to the "She's" that tipped the scales in favor of immortality for noted "He's".

Cleopatra gives Marc Antony a surer place in history than his military exploits, while Dante's love for Beatrice has given a lasting glow to his literary genius. Napoleon's romantic problems with Josephine are as familiar to most as his conquest of Europe and often more interesting.

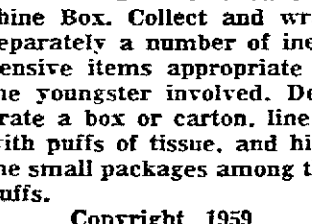

Thus, it is not surprising that the custom of setting aside one day to commemorate the importance and lasting power of love in the affairs of men has endured for thousands of years.

Customs Since 706 A.D.

Valentine's Day, February 14th, has existed and been marked by many different customs since the year 706 A.D. Its history goes back even farther into ancient Rome when the February date was a pagan feast day marked by sweethearts drawing lots and exchanging gifts.

Salvation Army Purpose Told at Annual Meeting

The purpose of the Salvation Army is to render human deeds for human needs, Capt. Earl Stubbs, Milwaukee, told members and guests of the Salvation Army at the Appleton group's annual dinner Tuesday night.

The organization interlocks its religious and social program, he noted, and is an army of peace at war against sin, wrongdoing and evil.

"We serve the whole man—his body, soul and spirit," he went on, "and often have been instrumental in re- turning people to their own churches."

In the annual election, Cecil Furminger was reelected chairman and Norman Hall was reelected treasurer of the Army's advisory board. New officers are William Cherkasky, vice president, and Mrs. Lloyd Williams, secretary.

Fired Professor Uncertain of Return to State

Cedar Falls, Ia. —(P)—Dr. George Ball, who the Wisconsin Supreme court held was not given a fair hearing before he was fired from Superior State college, said Monday night he was not sure whether he would return to Wisconsin even if he was reinstated at the school.

"My returning to Wisconsin would depend upon other circumstances," he said. Dr. Ball is an associate professor at Iowa State Teachers college here.

He said the decision by the supreme court that he be given another hearing or be reinstated was "something I rather expected."

"I hope the results of this case," he added, will prompt proper state authorities to see that this kind of situation may not continue or appear ever again in any institution of higher learning."

Another Red Admits 'Guilt'

Says He Erred in Opposing Policies Of Khrushchev

Moscow — (U) — Another former member of the Soviet communist party's ruling presidium confessed today he had made a mistake when he joined those opposing the views of Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

The confession of Maxim Saburov, once a top-ranking economist and industrialist, was made before the Soviet party's 21st congress, now apparently approaching its end after nine days of speeches praising the Khrushchev 7-year economic program.

Saburov's speech followed the general lines of the one made yesterday by another former leading Soviet economist and presidium member, Mikhail G. Pervukhin. Delegates were quick to claim Pervukhin's confession did not go far enough and that he attempted to mask his guilt.

Will Set Punishment

Saburov and Pervukhin are accused of having supported at least some of the views of the so-called anti-party group. There is some expectation that the congress will learn before it adjourns the extent of the punishment to be meted out to this group.

Former Premier Georgi M. Malenkov apparently is regarded as the leader. Other members of the group are V. M. Molotov, Lazar Kaganovich, Dmitri Shepilov and Nikolai Bulganin.

Saburov confessed he "committed a mistake in June, 1957, in having displayed political instability." It was then that the anti-party group was ousted from positions of communist leadership.

Saburov said the group attempted to hinder measures outlined by the central committee, without offering anything constructive of its own.

Police Car, Soo Line Engine Collide

A police car and a Soo line engine collided at the Linwood street crossing about 8:12 p.m. Tuesday.

The car was driven by Patrolman Elmer Marx, 33, 1633 N. Ullman street. Marx was uninjured and damages to the car were minor.

The engine failed to signal before making the crossing, Marx said. There was no crossing guard or signal.

Autos driven by Marvin H. Van Den Eng, 23, route 4, Appleton, and James A. Stumpf, 35, 839 E. Eldorado street collided at College avenue and Drew street about 3 p.m. Stumpf's car had to be towed to a garage.

Pioneer Pilot Dies in Auto

Jack Frye, 54, Had Over 7,000 Hours of Flight

Tucson, Ariz. —(P)— Jack Frye, pioneer flier who helped build one of the world's largest air transport firms, died in an Arizona traffic accident last night. He was 54.

A pilot with a record of 7,000 hours in the air, Frye died when his car smashed into the side of a car that pulled into the road in front of him south of Tucson.

Sheriff's deputies said the impact hurled his body 40 feet. The driver of the other car, identified as Rosabell M. Wright, 42, of Tucson, escaped with minor injuries.

The accident occurred at the intersection of the AJO highway and the Hughes plant access road.

Frye was president of Standard Airlines of Los Angeles in 1927 when the firm pioneered airline service to the east. He also worked as a pilot for the company and flew

Italian President Refuses to Accept Premier's Resignation

Rome —(P)— President Giovanni Gronchi told Premier Amintore Fanfani he could not quit unless parliament fired him, but the pro-western premier won a 24-hour delay. Gronchi called the 50-year-old christian democrat politician to the Quirinale palace this morning and told him he would not accept the resignation Fanfani had submitted Jan. 26. The president told him to ask parliament for a vote of confidence.

Fanfani asked to delay his decision until noon tomorrow, and Gronchi agreed.

It was felt certain the stubborn little christian democrat would have to accept Gronchi's decision. But Fanfani apparently wanted more time to decide when and on what issue to bring the vote of confidence before the legislature.

Science Now Removes Warts Without Cutting or Burning!

Doctors Develop New Compound to Make Common Warts Vanish!

New York, N.Y. (Special) ... Now science has found a new compound that removes common warts quickly, safely, without painful surgery or electrolysis.

Developed by a famous medical laboratory, this remarkable compound penetrates warts ... destroys their cells ... actually dissolves warts away.

Tested by a leading New York skin clinic under careful medical supervision, this remarkable formula proved so effective, only one application a day was needed ... proved so safe, it is now used for both children and adults. This new compound contains no mineral acids ... leaves no ugly scars.

Doctors report that picking and scratching at unsightly warts may cause bleeding and infection. And today, removal of warts is recommended with this new compound. Called Compound W, it is now available for the first time, without a prescription, at all drug counters for just 98¢. Compound W is guaranteed to remove warts ... or money refunded.

Talk about service!

—it's worth talking about at your Bank! Fact is, that's one of the important reasons more and more people are saving at Banks ... because every financial service you need, for home or business, is just a step away from the savings counter.

Think of the convenience! Checking accounts — currency exchange — money orders — personal loans — auto loans — safe deposit service — letters of credit — trust counsel — mortgage loans for home ownership. No other "savings" organization can provide all these services under one roof.

Do it today — open a Bank savings deposit account. Any amount can start you on a sound savings program. As a Bank depositor, you will enjoy the security and the extra services only a Bank can give you.

IT'S YOUR MONEY, BE SURE IT'S SAFE ... BANK IT!

- Only Banks Can Accept Savings Deposits!
- Only Banks Have Cash Savings Deposits Accounts!
- Only Banks Have Insured Deposits!

Only at your BANK do you have the legal right to receive your savings in cash!

Disc Jockeys Play Role in Picking Hits

Record Spinners' Biggest Audience Composed of Teens

BY BOB THOMAS AP Music-TV Writer

Hollywood — How did teenagers take over the popular music field?

There can be no doubt that they did. The best-selling records in the nation are those favored by that age group called "Twixt Twelve and Twenty" by Pat Boone in his best-selling book. These twisters call the tune, and the adults grudgingly follow—or else divorce themselves from pop music.

This revolution in taste has taken place in the last two or three years. The Castro of the revolt was a side-burned guitar thumper named Elvis

Third of Series

Presley. Riding the wave of publicity generously contributed by adults, he became the hero of youngsters who were seeking a form of expression all their own.

But one man doesn't make an army, and Elvis had powerful allies. Some veteran song writers claim the radio industry fostered rock 'n' roll to avoid paying royalties to ASCAP for established tunes and songsmiths. This has been hotly denied.

Certainly the disc jockeys have had much to do with upsurge of the teenage music industry. These record spinners range from the milkman's matinee announcer of a 250-watt to Philadelphia's Dick Clark, high priest of pop music through his TV dance parties. Each wields powers of varying degree over teen listeners.

Observes a top record official: "Take a town like Los Angeles. There are 23 radio stations and at least five disc jockeys at each station. Each one is trying to make a name for himself, and so they're looking for records that are new and different. Quality makes no difference.

One Explanation

"The teenagers are like sheep; they'll follow whatever they hear. If they're exposed long enough to bad music, that's what they'll like."

Said another executive: "The kids clamor to have their favorite records played on the radio. Grown-ups don't make as much noise, so they have to listen to the so-called music that the teenagers request."

From the head of a big music store: "The easiest way to get a loyal audience is to play to the teenagers. So the jockeys build up a rating that way, hoping the adults will follow."

Al Jarvis is the Christopher Columbus of disc jockeys, having discovered the art form with his "Make Believe Ballroom" here in 1932. He defends his fellow platter spinners thusly:

"The jockey owes it to his employers to try to get the best rating possible. The way to get it is to play what the teenagers want to hear. They don't want 'Nearer My God to Thee' in E flat. They want rock 'n' roll.

"No, it isn't good music.

Tousle-Headed Singer Jimmy Rodgers entertains a group of teenagers during an appearance in Hollywood. Jimmy, who lived on candy bars and soft drinks in New York City while trying to get a break as a singer, is typical of the new stars. He scored a hit with his recording of "Honeycomb" and now earns $200,000 a year.

Lawrence Grad Has Busy Time in Two Play Roles

A former popular Lawrence college thespian, now a lawyer in Milwaukee, has been a very busy man on stage.

Part-time actor and full-time lawyer is Angelo Greco, class of 1950. He appeared in two plays in Milwaukee—doing some speedy traveling from the Fred Miller theater to the Shorewood Players auditorium nightly.

He plays the role of the banker's son in the current Miller theater play, Horton Foote's drama of action and suspense, "The Chase," starring professional actor John Beal. He also played the elderly Gen. Bush in the popular spoof on the air force, "No Time for Sergeants," for the Shorewood Players last week.

Greco's off-stage spirit started in the second act of the Miller theater play after he delivered his last line to star John Beal. He made his exit, jumped into a waiting car, and went a mile up-town to age himself with make-up and don his army costume in time for a third-act cue in "No Time for Sergeants."

During his campus years, Greco was one of the principal actors in Lawrence college performances. One of his best remembered roles was that of Androcles in "Androcles and the Lion."

'Quiet Game of Cards' Causes Indignation

Dwelling on Blueprint for Murder Makes 'Fine Textbook' for Youth, One Protests

BY JINGO Indignant uproar mushroomed in front of Jingo's desk last Friday morning.

The whole tone started, it seemed to Jingo, about the second act of Thursday night's "Playhouse 90" story, "A Quiet Game of Cards."

It was about that time the plot of the card game deserted and took on more meaningful bokum, the meticulously planned murder of an old man.

What had them all going, evidently, wasn't the depicting of murder on the screen, but the dwelling on the blueprint.

"It certainly was a fine textbook for some bright youngster who finds things boring," went one comment.

Other views were unanimous: "Playhouse 90" overstepped the moral line.

Maybe so. But Jingo can't get that excited. Not after watching smut draw the biggest guffaws daily and bloody violence become the bread-and-butter of westernized TV.

Anyway, "Playhouse 90" Thursday night has what probably will be a more acceptable theme: The search for love in a hate-torn world.

It stars 14-year-old Robert as a young refugee.

Across channels, on WFRV-TV, Thursday night, "Hall of Fame" revives the old Leslie Howard starrer, "Berkeley Square," John Kerr and Jeannie Carson star. In the cast is Janet Munro, England's "Miss Television of 1958."

Armstrong Circle Theater tonight at 9 on WBAV-2 to a month next season.

Sewage Plants To be Studied by Works Board

Council Approves Maximum Pay Rate For Relief Help

Kaukauna — Council members took further steps in their study of improvements and modernization of the sewage plant Tuesday when they authorized members of the board of public works and the superintendent of the sewage plant to study area plants and submit expense vouchers for the study.

The city has been ordered to make improvements to provide secondary treatment at the plant and considerable time has been spent the last year interviewing representatives of various engineering firms about their suggestions for plant improvement.

At the recommendation of the works board, aldermen authorized board members to visit area plants recently constructed by either the Donohue, Meade and Hunt or Consoer - Townsend engineering firms. They are to report findings to the board and submit vouchers for all expenses incurred.

Council members accepted a maximum rate of $1.50 per hour to be set for relief help and temporary workers effective Feb. 5 as recommended by the finance committee. A request for opening an alley at the rear of some property on Whitney street was read and placed on file.

"Walk" Signs
The proposal to have "Walk" lights installed on traffic signals at Wisconsin avenue and Lawe street was referred to the public protection and safety committee for investigation and report.

Also referred to the committee was a recommendation by a parking committee to have the city remove trees on Second street between Crooks avenue and Dodge street and to have the city meet with Anton Berkers relative to use of his property as public parking site. The Berkers property has a 24-car capacity and is located on the southside. He previously offered to sell the property to the city but aldermen felt the price was too high and filed his letter.

The chairman of the board of public works was authorized to attend an institute on Dutch elm disease to be offered Feb. 13 at Madison by the League of Wisconsin Municipalities.

KHS Frosh Seek 2nd Win Over Madison Squad

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna High school frosh cagers will travel to Appleton Thursday in an attempt to duplicate their early season win over Madison Junior high.

The little Ghosts have a record of two wins and five defeats while Madison has dropped six straight. Kaukauna has three games remaining in league action. Coach Guy Krum's charges have been improving steadily since the early 39-30 win over Madison and last week gave co-leading Roosevelt a run before bowing in the final quarter.

The Junior Ghosts are still in the running for a first division finish but would have to win all their remaining contests while Kimberly and Neenah would have to lose their final games.

Society to See Slides Of Vatican, Lourdes

Combined Locks — Miss Louise Roovers will show colored slides of the Vatican at Rome and the shrine at Lourdes, France, at the meeting of the Altar society of St. Paul's Catholic church at 8 p. m. tonight at the grade school.

Members of the St. Maria Goretti sodality will be invited to the meeting.

Little Chute Board Asks Bids on Truck

Little Chute — The village board Tuesday night authorized the advertising for bids on a new heavy duty truck for the street department.

Bids are due to the clerk-treasurer by 8 p. m. Feb. 17, boxes after their removal. No decision was reached.

One False Alarm
Sanders said the telephone system has virtually eliminated false alarms which proved such a nuisance in the past.

In 1958 there were 34 fire calls, 13 of which just the chief and two or three men answered with an extinguisher. Only one false alarm came in.

Architect sketches of a possible new location for the police station were given to the board. There were two different floor plans submitted and the board plans to make a study of them before making a decision as to what will be done.

Council Favors Study Of Official Work Load

Damage, Injury Claims Filed Against City

Kaukauna — Council members debated whether to call in an outside consultant to determine the amount of work carried out by various city officials in an effort to ascertain if additional clerical help is needed.

A recommendation of the finance committee to have a study made by an outside appraiser was questioned by George Simon, Third ward alderman, as a study was made of city workers and their pay scale several years ago.

Bert Roberts, First ward alderman and chairman of the finance committee, said the study had been inconclusive in his estimation as much of the information gathered came from the wrong person.

Eagle Auxiliary Sets 2nd Meeting To Gain Members

Kaukauna — The second organizational meeting of the newly formed Women's auxiliary to Kaukauna Eagle Aerie 1416 will be held at 8 p. m. today at the clubrooms on Island street.

Any area women can still become charter members of the organization by attending this session, according to Mrs. Sylvester Hanby, organizer. An auxiliary organization cannot be formed until 40 women register and sign a charter before March 12.

At the first gathering 17 women attended and since an additional nine women have pledged to become members. Friends and relatives of members of the parent Eagle organization are eligible to join although they must be at least 18 years of age. Women between 18 and 55 qualify for funeral and insurance benefits but persons over 55 are still eligible to join the organization.

Lunch will be served and a social hour held after the business meeting.

United Church Women Meet Thursday to Talk Of 'Christian Service'

Kaukauna — "Christian Service" will be the theme for a meeting of the Women's Guild of the Immanuel United Church of Christ at 1:30 p. m. Thursday in the guild rooms of the church.

Co-chairmen for the program will be Mrs. Ralph Kuehl and Mrs. Michael Miller. A film, "The Long Stride," will be shown and members of the Faith circle will serve as hostesses.

Chuters Play 2 Loop Tilts On Own Court

Springs Thursday, Central Saturday At Little Chute

Little Chute — St. John High will play its first of two Fox Valley Catholic conference home games Thursday night when St. Mary's Springs of Fond du Lac invades the Dutchmen court.

The other league encounter will be Saturday night with Catholic Central of Marinette furnishing the opposition.

The Dutchmen will be trying for revenge wins in both games. Earlier in the season Springs tipped St. John by a 59 to 49 score and Central turned the trick by a 71 to 59 count.

2-5 Loop Mark
In the league the Chuters have a 2-5 record and Coach Bill Fitzpatrick is hoping his cagers run true to form and improve their rating before the close of the campaign. For the season St. John has an 8-9 record.

Springs is still in the running for the conference title with a record of seven wins and only one loss. St. Mary's Menasha leads the circuit with an 8-0 mark.

Probable starters for the Chuters will include Andy Ebbens and Mike Bongors or Tim Tousey at guards, Tom Geerts at center and Ed Hammen and Don Hermesen at forwards.

Scout Leaders Plan Banquet

Little Chute — Final plans for the annual Father-Daughter banquet of Girl Scout troops will be made at a neighborhood meeting at 8 p. m. Thursday at the village hall, according to Mrs. Clara Rutten, neighborhood chairman.

Leaders, assistant leaders, committee members and mothers are asked to attend. The cookie campaign chairman also should attend the session.

Afternoon Club To Hear Address by Area Health Officer

Kaukauna — Dr. G. M. Sherrers, district health officer from Green Bay, will speak on "Health and Sanitation" at a meeting of the Friday Afternoon Homemakers Club at 2 p. m. Friday at the Kaukauna Vocational school.

Mrs. Roy Nelson will serve as program committee chairman while Mrs. Bruno Kraft will head the social committee assisted by Mrs. T. H. Boebel, Mrs. Harold Frank, Mrs. Argo Simon, Mrs. Emmet Rohan, Mrs. Mike Nelson, Mrs. Joseph Scherer and Mrs. Ed Mante.

Auxiliary Will Hear Civil Defense Talk

Kimberly — Quentin Williams, Civil Defense director will speak at a meeting of the American Legion auxiliary at 7:30 p. m. Thursday at the Clubhouse.

Williams will explain the need for an active CD unit to guard against possible local disasters as well as national emergencies.

Piano Humorist on KHS Lyceum Program

Kimberly — George Jason piano humorist, will appear on a lyceum program Thursday afternoon at Kimberly High school. Jason was born in Russia and includes anecdotes and adventure tales with his piano selections.

Damage, Injury Claims Filed Against City

Each worker was not contacted individually to determine his work load, said the alderman.

Roberts said he was not a free spender of city funds but would like to see a complete study made with each officer and office employee questioned as to the work done. After a complete study and report the council will know just how much work each department handles and will be able to ascertain whether sufficient help is provided, continued Roberts.

Simon countered by suggesting each alderman spend more time visiting city offices to get an idea of the work load carried. Roberts pointed to the many hidden jobs of filing, card keeping and other duties which a casual observer would miss and emphasized his contention, an expert, with experience should make the study and report to the finance unit. Without further discussion the recommendation was approved with the finance unit authorized to hire the expert.

Claims From City
A claim against the city for $48 was received from an attorney on behalf of Ronald J. Huss, 904 Blackwell street. The claim stated the city was the cause of a sanitary sewer backup in September, 1958, for permitting excess storm water to drain into sanitary sewer systems.

The claim further stated, the city showed it was at fault by having city crews clean up a neighbor's basement. Fifth ward Ald. George Luebke, who also serves as president of the board of public works, reported he had checked the Huss basement at the time of the sewer backup and felt the claim exaggerated. He also reported city crews had been ordered from the premises when they offered to clean the basement after the storm.

The city insurance carrier has denied the claim, thus aldermen voted to receive the communication and place it on file without taking further action.

A second claim was made on behalf of Richard Smith, 15, who fell on slippery walks when going to school and injured his hip. He was treated by a physician but no amount was listed in the injury claim.

The matter was referred to the city insurance carrier as the mishap took place on a city approach to the Lawe street bridge where icy conditions existed as a result of recent storms.

Dollar Days Begin Thursday

Kaukauna — Most Kaukauna business places have scheduled annual dollar day sales beginning Thursday and running through Saturday.

Shoppers will have the opportunity to take advantage of sales to purchase needed winter clothing as store owners make room for the spring styles, expected to arrive within the next couple of weeks.

The event will be city wide with all types of merchant joining forces to make the event a success. The sale is promoted by the retail committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

KHS Foreign Exchange Student to Address Methodist WSCS Unit

Kaukauna — Aage Fredens, a Kaukauna High school foreign exchange student from Denmark, will be guest speaker at a meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church at 2 p. m. Thursday in Fellowship hall.

A meeting of the executive committee will get underway at 1:30 p. m. Adolph Popp will lead devotions, Mrs. Rohl will be program chairman and members of Circle one will serve as hostesses.

Industrial Growth Officers Reelected

Directors Approve Corporation Option on Extension Center Site

The first year slate of officers was reelected for a second year Tuesday night as annual stockholders and directors meetings.

George A. Howden is president; Victor I. Minahan, Jr.,

Howden Minahan vice president; C. A. Pertain, treasurer, and Walter H. Brummund, secretary.

Elected to 3-year terms as directors were William E. Schubert, Leonard E. Pasek and Gordon A. Bubolz. Bubolz replaces Richard F. Hinz, who declined reelection. Schubert and Pasek served 1-year terms last year.

Directors took these actions: An option on 20 acres on Midway road in the town of Menasha, taken out in the name of the corporation last September, was approved.

It is the University of Wisconsin extension center site which an Appleton citizens committee is backing and will be purchased, if need be, through a private fund-raising campaign. The corporation won't necessarily participate in the fund drive, Howden said.

Stock, which the corporation will sell in large quantities later, was valued at $10 a share. Appleton Chamber of Commerce immediately bought 50 shares to provide working capital. First National Bank was authorized as the depository for funds.

Appointment of a 3-member executive committee to aid him during the year was suggested by Howden and approved. He will name the members in a week or so, he said.

Hiring of an executive secretary, proposed at the outset of organizational moves a year ago, was suggested by Howden and endorsed.

Ask Chamber Financing Appleton Chamber of Commerce will be asked to finance the hiring, at least on a part-time basis. Minahan said the secretary probably should be added to the staff of the chamber to serve not only the corporation, but the Brummund Pertain chamber's newly-formed industrial division and its industrial development committee as well.

The secretary, Howden said, would be responsible for promoting corporation objectives of attracting new industry and helping in-city industry expand.

A retired or semi-retired industrialist would be ideal for the job, Howden said.

The Brady company, consultant for the promotional materials committee, is devising several alternate ideas for materials, Minahan, committee chairman, reported. Two or three different brochures will be ordered and all materials will stress one basic theme, he said. Conclusion of the study is expected sometime in March.

Little Chute Man Fined for Speeding

Kaukauna — James Ver Voort, 22, 415 Monroe street, Little Chute, pleaded guilty of speeding when arraigned before Oscar T. Jahns, justice of the peace, Monday and was fined $15.

Ver Voort was arrested by the Kaukauna police on Lawe and Main streets. He will have skin tests this morning at three points charged against his record toward revocation of his driver's license.

52 Kimberly Pupils Named To Honor Roll

Freshmen Class Leads With 17 At 6 Weeks Period

Kimberly — Fifty-two students were named to the third six weeks period honor roll at Kimberly High school, according to J. R. Gerrits, superintendent.

Freshmen topped the list with 17 honor pupils, there were 14 from both the senior and junior classes and seven sophomores.

Those from the freshmen class included Michael Beland, Dawn Bloch, Nancy Bunnow, Donna Dewey, Gary Dresang, Ruth Hechel, Patricia Jansen, Barbara Kloe, Patricia Maas, John Schwanke, Donald Sylvester, Laurel Vanderheiden, Rose Weyenberg, Karen Wundrow, Carol Wydewen, Mary Zarter and Allan Hietpas.

Elaine Dietzen Hits 547 Set At Little Chute

Little Chute—Elaine Dietzen slammed a 202 game and sultant for the promotional 547 series for the top honors in materials committee, is devising several alternate ideas for materials, Minahan, committee chairman, reported.

The only other honor count was a 504 set by Marge Vanderloop.

Harry's Bar is leading the league with a 36-21 record while the Little Chute Five to $1 Store is second, just a half game off the pace.

Francis LeNoble hit a 577 series for the high count in the Tri-City league at the Recreation lanes.

Lefty's Bar is in first place with a three game lead over Boot's TV. Three teams are tied for third.

Kimberly — Students from the fourth, eighth and 11th grades were given tuberculin skin tests this morning at Kimberly Public school, according to J. R. Gerrits, superintendent.

County's Airport Facing Serious Obstacles Ahead

Lack of Money, Runway Length Endanger Port

AND JIM NEWCOMB
Post-Crescent Staff Writers

The Outagamie county airport, scheduled to accommodate commercial airline service for the Fox Cities this spring, faces several serious obstacles.

Money for proposed improvements may not be available and runways may not be adequate for commercial air service requirements.

Outagamie county's share of improvement costs — a total of $230,000 for a cross runway and terminal facilities — could skyrocket from less than $60,000 to more than $100,000 if the Eisenhower administration airport aid bill passes in Congress.

So far, the proposed improvements haven't cost the county any major sums.

Temporary Terminal
The county has invested $7,500 in a temporary port work coming under the terminal building and other aid program and it pays the facilities required for air bills. The county will be asked service. This expense has to provide money as commitment to do with the improvements.

Drastic Aid Cut
The Eisenhower administration airport aid bill cuts federal aid from 50 to 20 percent, throwing an increased load on the county and state — or perhaps the county alone.

The last state legislature cut airport aid but what this session will do is not known. The county and state might have to make up the 30 percent federal aid cut between them, or the county might have to pick it up alone, making its share 35 percent.

At the present state of affairs, this could mean $27,300 federal funds (including the $18,700 already earmarked), $28,500 state funds (including the $20,000 already committed but not earmarked specifically) and $106,500 county funds. This is the most costly part of the program the money is for.

The clear zone, involving air rights, affects about 50 acres. Estimated cost of land and air rights for the clear zones was set at $54,500 by the state aeronautical commission, although it was termed a rough estimate in the application for federal aid.

Next Step?
At the time of the allotment for air rights, the civil aeronautics administration told the state commission that no more aid would be forthcoming until certification of the airport for air service. This certification came from the civil aeronautics board Dec. 10.

The state commission probably will have to file a new application, although Thomas K. Jordan, commission director, has not indicated what the next procedure will be.

The county has hired a Green Bay firm to survey the airport and determine the clear zones and construction specifications. Until this survey is complete, the exact cost of the improvements will not be known, nor will the county be asked for money.

The state aeronautical commission contracts for all air-500 to $600,000 in a temporary port work coming under the terminal building and other aid program and it pays the facilities required for air bills. The county will be asked service. This expense has to provide money as commitment to do with the improvements.

North Central Begins Convair Service April 26

North Central Airlines will inaugurate service with its new Convair 340 aircraft on or near April 26 on certain segments of its 9-state system, according to H. N. Carr, airline president.

The addition of the five 44-passenger pressurized airliners to North Central's present 32-plane DC-3 fleet represents the airline's third major equipment change in 11 years of scheduled operations.

The Convairs will be used on either the high density or long haul routes. Initial service will be on about 7,000 of North Central's 40,000 daily scheduled miles. Convairs will serve other segments as rapidly as traffic develops and airports are made adequate for Convair operation.

January Delivery
Delivery of the first of the five twin-engine radar-equipped planes was taken Jan. 9.

The others are expected to be delivered to North Central's main operations and maintenance base at Minneapolis-St. Paul at the rate of one each month until April, when two will arrive.

Fleet standardization and personnel training programs have been progressing steadily since early January in preparation for inauguration of service with the new aircraft.

Initial tentative schedule calls for Convairs on the following routes:

Minneapolis-St. Paul to Chicago, via intermediate stops at Eau Claire, Wausau, Green Bay and Milwaukee, with three daily trips. Oshkosh will be added as a stop later when minor airport obstructions are removed.

Missouri Synod Won't Consider Entering Council

Milwaukee — The Lutheran Church-Missouri synod declined Tuesday to undertake exploratory talks at this time leading to possible affiliation with the National Lutheran council.

With 2,228,000 members, the Lutheran Church - Missouri synod, is the largest body of Lutherans outside the council. The council, a cooperative agency of eight Lutheran denominations, has more than 5 million members.

Dr. John W. Behnken, St. Louis, Mo., president of the Missouri synod, notified the council's 41st annual convention, which opened here Tuesday, that his group "respectfully declined" the invitation for exploratory talks.

Dr. Behnken said the synod is working toward greater scriptural harmony in doctrine and practice with the Wisconsin, Norwegian and Slovak synods and is awaiting the outcome of several mergers now in the process of negotiation.

Asian Journalists Tour Australia

Sydney — Australian Minister for External Affairs Richard G. Casey says visits by leading Asian journalists have helped to bring about better understanding between Australia and her Asian neighbors.

Eight parties of journalists from south and southeast Asia have visited Australia in recent years as guests of the government.

Six journalists who spent 25 days touring the country — two came from Indonesia, two from Viet Nam, and one each from Burma and Thailand — returned to their homelands Dec. 4.

One daily round trip between Detroit and Chicago, via South Bend, Ind. and Battle Creek, Mich.

Fish Good Substitute For Meats

For many centuries, almost since the acceptance of Christianity and certainly since the religion became formalized by the church, the 40 days between Ash Wednesday and

Easter were considered a fast-ing period. Fridays throughout the year were considered fish days; in many households even today throughout lent, Wednesday is the second day on which fish supplants meat on the table. Variety is possible if shell-fish is featured on one of these days. There also are a num-ber of popular egg and cheese dishes that may appear either on Wednesday or Friday. Like other foods of animal source, they supply high quality protein which is so important for good nutrition.

Fishing Stuffing
2 cups soft bread crumbs
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped parsley
1 cup butter, melted
Combine all ingredients and mix well. Use for stuffing fish or fish fillets. Yield: About two cups stuffing.

Stuffed Fish Fillets
Remove fillets from package and allow to thaw. Drain well. Spread half the slices liberally with fish stuffing, and cover with remaining fillets. Secure with toothpicks. Place in well-greased pan, sprinkle with salt and pepper and dot with butter. Bake in moderately hot, 400 - degree oven about 15 minutes, until fish flakes when tried with a fork. Baste occasionally with melted butter.

Cook's Help
The meringue shell may be made and baked, covered with airtight moisture-proof wrapping and stored in the freezer. When it is to be served, it should be unwrapped and thawed at room temper-ature for several hours, then the lemon filling may be added.

Lawrence Says:
Virginians Feel
Coercion in Mixed Schools
14th Amendment
Not Really Ratified,
Columnist Contends

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
 Washington—The people of Virginia are not happy over the enforced integration of their public schools. They feel they are being coerced into doing something against their will. They have been told the constitution is what the people of the United States say it is. But is it always? In no state of the union have the people ever voted to approve any change in the constitution that requires integration or desegregation in the public schools.

But did the people ever ratify the 14th amendment by the method prescribed in the constitution. The historians tell us this wasn't done. The secretary of state who proclaimed the 14th amendment in 1868 expressed frankly his doubts as to whether it had been legally ratified.

Upon what were these doubts based? Abraham Lincoln said the union was indissoluble and that no state could secede. When the war between the states was over, President Johnson in May, 1865, formally proclaimed amnesty to former rebels and established provisional governments in the southern states.

South Excluded
 When, however, congress met in December, 1865, all the senators and representatives from the southern states, except Tennessee, were excluded from both houses of congress. Nevertheless, the 14th amendment was voted on by congress and was formally submitted to the states in June, 1866. Ten southern states rejected it.

Congress thereupon passed a law putting the south under military rule and specifically ordering the states to ratify the amendment or remain excluded from the union. The president vetoed the bill and called it plainly unconstitutional but it was passed over his veto. Federal troops took command of the state legislatures in the south.

Up to 1896 not a single court of importance held that the separate but equal idea for public schools was a violation of the federal constitution. In fact, the highest courts of several states, including Massachusetts, Ohio and New York, repeatedly upheld the separate but equal doctrine as conforming to the federal constitution.

The truth is the present court followed precedent in declining to examine the legality of the process by which the 14th amendment was allegedly ratified. Every time anyone has tried to get the previous justices to examine the issue—and this has happened several times—the matter has been turned aside as political. No decision has ever been rendered by the supreme court on the merits of the case. This was doubtless due to a feeling that, if ever passed upon, the amendment would have to be declared illegal.

Assumed Valid
 This correspondent attended an integrated public school both in the elementary grades and in high school and would gladly attend one again if he were a student. If a constitutional amendment were proposed that would permit the states to deal with this subject, this writer would vote for such an amendment. If the 14th amendment were adopted today by the states and it specifically forbade segregation, this writer would welcome it as an expression of the free will of the people uncoerced by bayonets and representing the desires of the American electorate.

In the absence of any supreme court decision to the contrary, the 14th amendment is assumed to be valid. This means federal court orders based on its provisions must be obeyed. But no state is denied the right to try by legal means any form of circumvention to achieve its objectives. This is lawful until the court in each case specifically rules otherwise.

Meanwhile, can America afford to let the record of fraud and coercion stand as it is before the world—or will a troubled conscience someday make the people of the United States square that record by a lawfully adopted amendment to the constitution? (Copyright, 1959)

Underweight

It is a good idea when you are planning baked potatoes for a meal to do more than enough. There are so many interesting uses for cooked potatoes. It is well to remove the skins before storing in the refrigerator. The flavor of the hot peel is good, but it is not so appetizing later.

Believe it or not, there are a number of eprons who really want to gain weight. Often, this is particularly difficult because they lack appetite. The flavor of the hot peel is good, but it is not so appetizing later.

County Port May Run Into Some Troubles

ly way the aid picture could work out for the county. The lowest county share, depending on how the CAA figures the federal share under the administration bill, would be $97,040.

Aid Hike

However, under a bill from Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.), federal aid would continue at 50 per cent. The administration bill would provide $200 million aid between 1960 and 1964; the Monroney bill $375 million.

In any event, it seems just about certain that no construction will take place this year.

How this will affect air service by North Central won't be known until air service starts in April or May.

North Central's vice president of operations, A. D. Niemeyer, last year said, "It has been our experience that operations at an airport with only one useable runway cannot be either reliable or profitable. . . . The first runway should have a minimum length of 3,800 feet sea level with 200 additional feet for each 1,000 feet above sea level. A second runway of 3,500 feet is adequate for the DC-3." (Appleton is about 750 feet above sea level.)

Present Runway

Present length of the paved runway—built in 1952-3—is 3,750 feet and could be increased by crossing French road to the east. To make the runway longer, the road would have to be closed or go under the runway. The port is bounded on the west by Ballard road.

Civil aeronautics administration standards for a local type-short haul airport (Outagamie's classification) are a minimum 3,771 feet and a maximum 4,500 feet. The maximum is set up to limit federal aid. The lengths are for DC-3 aircraft, which North Central flies.

The proposed length of the new cross runway is 3,300 feet, limited to about that length by Highway 41 and the Chicago and North Western railroad tracks at either end unless Highway 41 is crossed by construction of a grade separation.

New Convairs

North Central has begun buying Convair aircraft for eventual complete replacement of its DC-3 equipment. Deliveries of the new planes started in January.

This equipment change further complicates the Outagamie airport picture.

Convairs require a minimum of 5,254 feet of runway for takeoff, the CAA says. In addition, the Convair weighs 46,725 pounds compared to 25,346 for the DC-3, raising the question of whether the existing Outagamie runway can take the increased wheel load. The Convair, like the DC-3, is a 2-wheel aircraft.

Niemeyer last year said, "Convairs will be acquired as rapidly as is justified by traffic until all segments on our system are served by the new planes. The Convair must have a 4,700 - foot effective length of runway at sea level. This requirement precludes the use of Convairs at Outagamie county airport." (The CAA 5,254 - foot runway length is corrected for altitude.)

"Use It or Lose It"

However, the CAB has okayed Outagamie airport for service by North Central, indicating in its statement of intent that the service was granted on a "use it or lose it" basis with a review of traffic slated 18 months after service starts.

A single runway, it has been estimated, can be used upwards of 90 per cent of the time. Fltovers for bad weather would seem to be in the minority, but remain a threat to the "use it or lose it" basis stipulated by the CAB.

What plans, if any, the county board has made for the increased length of runways required if North Central completes its switchover to Convairs has not been revealed.

Zone Violations?

As a last headache for air service backers, who have worked on the problem intensively for the last five years, there seems to be a possibility that buildings in the E. Glendale avenue area, west of the airport, are violating the clear zone for the main runway.

The current survey will turn up any violations. The county passed an ordinance zoning the airport area for building height, but part of the area adjoining the airport is in the city where it is questionable that the county's ordinance applies. At any rate, there have been no joint meetings between the city

Greedy Thieves Snared By Victim's Scheme

Nashville, Tenn. —(U)—When two men robbed Robert Barker King of his watch and $600 ring, King quickly convinced the men they were just the ones he needed to plan a kidnapping of himself and get $50,000 ransom from his family. And he promised them $100 reward to return the ring.

A meeting was arranged, the pair showed up with the ring and detectives arrested Billy Gene Martin, 24, and William Edward Johnson, 22. After King's court testimony Monday about the trick, the two received 3-year prison sentences for larceny.

Jordan says there definitely are some homes in the area built in violation of the county's ordinance. However, he adds that it's not a state concern, since the county must enforce its own ordinances.

School Officials Inspected Madison Junior High school before accepting the building and paying remaining of the contracts. The procedure takes place with every school. Seated from left, are John A. Schneider, Mrs. Myrl N. Davis, both school board members; Raymond N. LeVe, architect; and Walter T. Fox, principal. Standing, same order, are John P. Mann, superintendent of schools; Franklin C. Jesse, Earl H. Harder and Edward V. Krueger, all board members. The group is looking at lighting fixtures in the auditorium.

Livestock Outnumber Humans, 17 to 1, In Australia

Canberra —(U)— Australia has 149,319,000 sheep, 18,900,000 cattle, 1,421,000 pigs, and 685,000 horses.

The figures were released by the commonwealth statistician. They mean there are about 17 head of livestock in the country for every human being.

There are a few more pigs this year than last, but the totals for sheep, cattle and horses are down slightly. The number of horses is the lowest since 1875, and only about one-quarter of the 1919 figure.

Dupas Meets Del Flanagan

St. Paul Is Site Of Welterweight Fight Tonight

St. Paul, Minn. — Pre-fight feuding has made Del Flanagan and Ralph Dupas sound like a couple of 10-pair of free throws in the final count slugging. But a knock-out at 45 seconds of the overtime. (Earlier this season, the cool will be one of the upsets of senior guard had similarly de-livered the goods in down-to-the-wire wins over Manty, Oshkosh and East.)

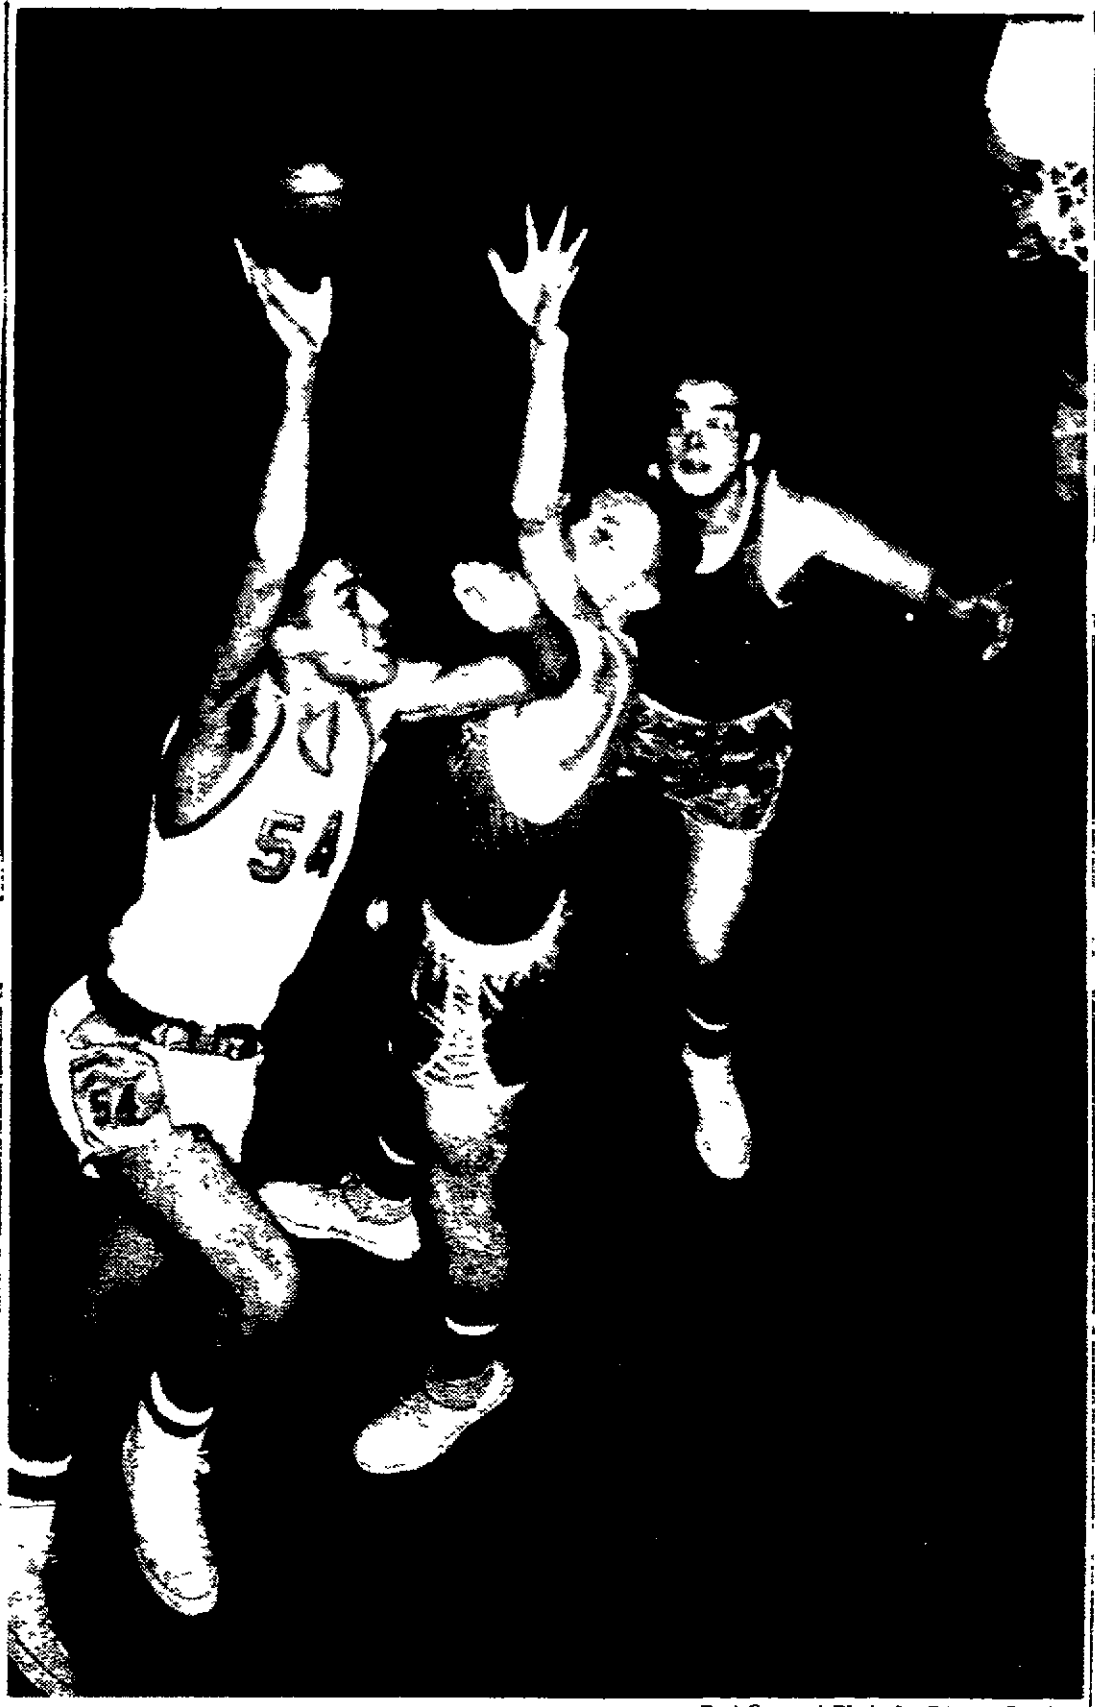

Neither Overawed
With neither overawed by the other's hitting power, there's a reasonable chance for a first-rate match between two of the best boxers in the game. Flanagan will outweigh Dupas by about four pounds, 148 to 144. In addition, Flanagan is campaigning loudly for a title bout and can't afford to lose prestige now. He has been established as the favorite.

Dupas is younger and may be quicker than Flanagan, which is saying a lot. He, too, is looking for a championship shot.

Kefauver Introduces Bill to Apply Antitrust Laws to Pro Team Sports

Washington — Sen. Kenneth D. Keating (R-N.Y.) today described as "a baseball badgering bill" a proposal to subject the sport to anti-trust laws and restrict its reserve clause.

The bill, introduced Tuesday by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), would apply the antitrust laws to all professional team sports and kill football's players draft.

At the same time, however, it would provide limited authority, subject to regulation by the Federal Communications commission, for something long asked by minor league baseball — agreements to restrict broadcasting and telecasting of sports events.

The supreme court, while hinting that Congress should act, has declined to apply the Menasha — Kimberly entertains co-runnerup Two Rivers Friday night as it goes in quest of its fourteenth straight win, including its tenth in Mid-Eastern conference play.

Other Friday games are Clintonville at Shawano, New London at Menasha and Neeenah at Kaukauna.

When Kimberly and Two Rivers met at Two Rivers the first time, both were unbeaten both in and out of conference play. The Papermakers won, 81-55, and since then they've managed to maintain a clean slate while Two Rivers has taken two additional defeats (Manitowoc and Shawano).

The initial struggle started out to be quite a contest and Two Rivers had a 34-32 lead at halftime. Kimberly exploded for 49 points in the second half while limiting the Raiders to 21.

Knoppe Improves
Although some of the Raiders haven't hit as well as they did in early season games, the attack has been bolstered by the improved scoring of Dick Knoppe. The 6-2 senior made only 31 points in his first five games but has had 15 or better in the last four and 23 and 24 in the last two.

Kimberly continues to get good balanced scoring. Each of its starters made 10 or more markers against Menasha last week.

Shawano, which followed up Friday's win over New London with a convincing triumph over Stevens Point the following night, faces a Clintonville team which came within a hair of upsetting Neeenah last week.

The Truckers, paced by Leon Westphal's 32 points, led by seven at the close of three periods but couldn't maintain their advantage. Shawano notched a 59-54 win in their first meeting.

Neeenah bids for its fifth straight league win at the expense of Kaukauna. After coming within an eyelash of beating Kimberly, the Ghosts

Lombardi Meets Club Directors

Post-Crescent News Service
Green Bay — John Thurman "Red" Cochran, Jr. and John Philip "Phil" Bengtson are the first two Packers assistant coaches hired by Vince Lombardi, the Bays' new head coach and general manager.

Each newcomer will give the Packers a special peek at two noted Western division foes, Cochran being fresh from the Detroit Lions and Bengtson likewise from the San Francisco 49ers.

Miller Remains
Lombardi announced Cochran's signing as backfield coach during a press luncheon at the Northland hotel Tuesday afternoon. He named Bengtson as defense coach today.

Lombardi also announced

Tuesday that Tom Miller, the Packers' sales promotion and publicity director, has been retained. Earlier, he named Scout Jack Vainisi as a replacement.

Thus, Lombardi is down to three empty positions—two assistant coaches and a business manager. A prospect for one of the coaching jobs is Nick Skorch, the boys' offensive line coach a year ago.

Verne Lewellen, the Bays' GM until Lombardi was hired, said earlier he'd be a candidate for the business manager's post.

A native of St. Paul, Minn., Bengtson played tackle for Minnesota in 1934 and 1935. He then coached at Missouri until 1939. The following year he went to Stanford as an assistant and stayed until 1950, with four years out for wartime service with the Navy.

Lombardi, has no intention of being associated with a loser here.

Complete Command
He made that plain as he met the football club's board of directors and others Tuesday.

"I've never been associated with a loser," he said forcefully. "and I don't expect to be now."

"And, I want it understood that I'm in complete command here."

Lombardi, the former offensive boss of the New York Giants, was hired by the Green Bay National Football League club to try to null the Packers out of the cellar.

Robin Roberts Signs for About $40,000

Skowron Agrees To Same Terms He Had in '58

By The Associated Press
A trio of big ones—Robin Roberts, Bill Skowron and Orlando Cepeda—were in the fold today as major league baseball clubs faced squarely the problem of getting their stars signed before the start of spring training.

The official opening of the training season looms less than a month away. For some players, notably pitchers, catchers and rookies, the date for reporting is only about two weeks off.

Roberts, the Philadelphia Phil's 6-time 20-game winner, Thursday signed a pact in the neighborhood of $40,000. After compiling a poor 10-22 record in '57, Roberts returned to form last year, fashioning a 17-14 mark for the last-place Phils.

The feat earn him The AP's "comeback of the year" award in the National League.

Same Salary
The Yankees induced Skowron to agree to terms for $20,000, the same as last season. The first baseman fell off a bit during the '58 campaign, falling below .300 for the first time in his career.

Cepeda said in San Juan, Puerto Rico where he has been playing winter ball, that he mailed his signed contract to the San Francisco Giants. The agreement reportedly calls for $17,000, about a $5,000 boost for the young first sacker who was the NL's rookie of the year.

Outfielder John Callison, who led the American association in homers with 29, while batting .283 for Indianapolis, agreed to his Chicago White Sox contract. He is expected to be the Sox' regular left fielder. First sacker Ray Boone also signed with the White Sox.

Pitcher Tom Brewer and Willard Nixon along with catcher Haywood Sullivan okayed Boston Red Sox terms.

By The Associated Press
Leo Byrd, 6-1 senior from Marshall, scored 39 points against Morehead (Ky.) State Tuesday night to clinch on leader Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati and runner-up Jim Hagan of Tennessee Tech in the major college basketball scoring race.

Byrd's output enabled him to boost his game average from 28.6 to 29.3. Robertson and Hagan, both idle, remained at 32.9 and 29.4 respectively.

18,496 Watch Celtics Bump Hawks, 104-97

By The Associated Press
Lured by a preview of the likely playoff series for the championship—a meeting between the Boston Celtics and the St. Louis Hawks—the largest crowd ever to see a National Basketball association game anywhere, 18,496, turned out Tuesday night at Madison Square garden.

Royals Win
The fact that the New York Knicks played the Syracuse Nationals in the second game of the NBA doubleheader helped to erase the previous attendance mark for professional basketball, the 18,386 at the Garden Christmas night.

The folks saw the Celtics win their sixth in a row, 104-97, over the Hawks, and the Knicks grab an exciting 115-114 victory over the Nats, the eighth straight time this year they have beaten Syracuse.

Jack Twyman and the Cincinnati Royals scored a 120-103 victory over the Philadelphia Warriors at Cincinnati in the other NBA action.

Richie Guerin scored a lay-up in the last 25 seconds to give New York its victory.

Boston came from a 19-point first quarter deficit and were further aided when the Hawks' Bob Pettit fouled out with 10:21 remaining in the game. Cliff Hagan of St. Louis took scoring honors with 32 points while Frank Ramsey and Bob Cousy scored 23 apiece for Boston.

Basilio Manager Says Carmen Will Meet Robinson

Tampa, Fla. — The long-discussed middleweight championship rematch between "Sugar" Ray Robinson and Carmen Basilio will be held in Chicago stadium, probably in April, Basilio's co-manager said Tuesday night.

Joe Netro told a sports writer here that there was nothing to a report Robinson would fight Light Heavyweight Champ Archie Moore.

"That match is just a lot of talk," Netro said, adding that a Robinson-Basilio fight was "in the making and I have no doubt it will come off. It will be held at Chicago stadium, probably in April."

"The TV deal will be closed circuit and will gross two and a half million dollars. The gate will hit $400,000."

Netro reported Basilio is in good shape and ready to win back the championship from Robinson.

"Basilio beat him the first time and would have won the second match if he hadn't gotten that bad eye in the sixth round."

Name Cooper Top January Boxer by NBA

Milwaukee — Henry Cooper, who won the British heavyweight title Jan. 12 and then defended a $140,000 guarantee to fight Floyd Patterson for the world championship, today was named boxer-of-the-month by the National Boxing association.

Cooper's 15-round decision over Brian London elevated him from seventh to third in the NBA's heavyweight ratings behind Patterson. Sweden's Ingemar Johansson and Cuba's Nino Valdez.

Patterson and Johansson signed last week for a title fight.

The NBA kept Tony Anthony of New York as its No. 1 contender for Archie Moore's light heavyweight crown despite Anthony's upset loss to Reuben Vargas Friday night. The NBA said Vargas fought as a heavyweight. He outweighted Anthony, 186 to 177.

Indianapolis — Dan Orlich of Reno, Nev.—a former University of Nevada and Green Bay Packer football player—squeezed by as America's high trapshooter for 1958 at 16 yards. His winning margin was one ten-thousandth of a percentage point.

The Amateur Trapshooting association, in statistics released Monday, placed Orlich on top with a .9925 average on 5,200 targets.

Ned Lilly of Stanton, Mich., was second with .9924 on 2,500 targets.

Victor Reinders of Wauke-sha, Wis., a professor at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, was third highest with an average of .9893 on 4,500 targets.

Top Woman
Iva Jarvis, a school teacher from Phillipsburg, Kan., was top American woman trapshooter at 16 yards with a .9815 average on 3,250 targets.

Reinders also led Wisconsin trapshooters in both singles and doubles during 1958. He averaged .9893 in singles on 4,500 targets and .9144 on 1,250 targets in doubles.

Robert Niederkorn of Port Washington, Wis., was the high handicap Wisconsin shooter with .9906 on 1,500 targets.

John F. Kluth of Columbus, was second to Reinders in 16-yard averages with .9789 on 2,800 targets.

Ewbank's Gamble With Job Security Pays Off Handsomely

Baltimore — Weeb Ewbank's gamble with job security has paid off handsomely.

The little coach who led the Baltimore Colts to their first National Football league title in 1958 was rewarded Tuesday night with a $25,000 bonus and a new 3-year contract (about $30,000 annually).

Carnell Rosenbloom, principal owner of the Colts, said the contract will be renegotiated each year. That means Ewbank will receive at least two years' salary in the event he is fired.

"I hope our contract is forever," Rosenbloom said at the team's annual press party. "A better man we do not believe we can find. If he fails up, I'll buy up his contract first thing."

Rosenbloom recalled that he said much the same thing five years ago when Ewbank quit as an assistant coach of the Cleveland Browns and joined the Colts.

"And for awhile I thought he had been here forever," he said.

Ewbank admitted the climb to the top of NFL wasn't easy. He predicted when he took over the down-trodden Colts in 1954 that he'd produce a contender in five years. After the first season, he said he felt he may have made a mistake. In 1956 he almost was fired.

"I could have ridden the shirttail of Paul Brown, coach of Cleveland, since he was always 10 years ahead of the game," Ewbank said. "Now I'm glad I came and stuck it out."

Outscore Hosts By 17-4 Margin In 3rd Period

Green Bay West's junior varsity cagers completed the sweep of their season's series with Appleton by winning, 50-32, here Tuesday night. Earlier in the season, West won, 53-35.

The Junior Terrors trailed only 21-18, at halftime but lost touch with the basket completely in the third quarter, being outscored, 17 to 4. (Similarly last Friday, the AHS Jayvees were outdone, 18-5, in the third period at Sheboygan Central after leading at the intermission.)

Al Reichwald, West's regular varsity fullback showed he knows his way around a basketball court, too, by leading both teams with 18 points. He dropped in five of his goals during the third quarter. The Junior Terrors also found it hard to cope with big Tom Quinn on rebounds.

Dick Rankin paced Appleton's offense with 11 points. West JV—50 Appleton JV—32

Former Irish Coach Will Help Club With Conditioning

Cincinnati — Terry Brennan, former Notre Dame football coach, has a new job with the Cincinnati Red-legs' major league baseball players into shape.

Gabe Paul, team general manager, announced the move Tuesday and said Brennan, fired just before Christmas from his college post, will start talks on the conditioning program with Manager Mayo Smith this week.

Brennan said he has a few ideas he wants to try with the Reds — especially on conditioning the ballplayer's legs.

Brennan said the Redleg job will not interfere with his plans to join a Chicago investment banking firm next April.

The surprise announcement came at a press conference.

Gunther Holds Scoring Lead In Big Ten

Chicago — Iowa's Dave Gunther and Northwestern's Joe Ruklick remained 1-2 today in the Big Ten all-games basketball scoring race.

Gunther held the top spot with 351 points in 15 games for a 23.4 average. Ruklick had 340 points in 15 games for a 22.6 mark.

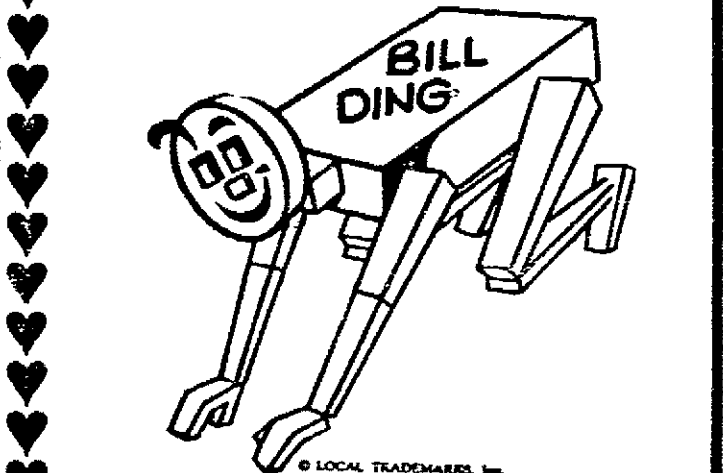

Taking over third place was Minnesota's Ron Johnson with 312 points in 15 games and a 20.8 average.

Only two other players are averaging 20 points a game. They are Willie Merriweather of Purdue and M. C. Burton of Michigan. Merriweather has a 20.5 average with 288 points in 14 games and Burton has a 20.1 average with 282 points in 14 games.

Auburn Cracks Zone, Extends Victory String

North Carolina State, West Virginia Score Triumphs

By The Associated Press
Auburn's basketball opponents are pulling every trick in the book to cut short the longest major winning streak in the nation. But the Tigers always seem to come up with a solution.

Tuesday night, George Tech used a zone defense to thwart Auburn's fast break, but the Tigers, No. 4 in the country, won their twenty-sixth straight with a 51-40 victory.

15-0 For Season
The triumph boosted Auburn's Southeastern conference record to 6-0 and its season's mark to 15-0.

North Carolina State and West Virginia were the only other teams among the top 10 to see action last night.

N. C. State, No. 6, picked up steam near the end of the first half and romped to an 87-70 Atlantic Coast Conference triumph over Virginia. West Virginia, No. 10, staging a second half comeback, defeated Pittsburgh 73-64.

The expected battle between All-America candidates Don Hennon of Pittsburgh and Jerry West of Virginia turned out to be a dud. Hennon, the 5-8 1/2 sharpshooter, fouled out midway in the second half and finished with only 13 points. West went scoreless from the field for the opening 17 minutes and wound up with 16 points.

Al Lietz Hits 258 Triple in Cigaret Loop

Al Lietz blasted a 258 game and a 595 triple for the winners in the Cigaret Loop league at Hahn's in its latest round. The Marlboros (23-91) held a half game league lead. Dee Tesmer jarred a 190 and Lorna Pekarske a 502.

John Behnke's 593 for Automatic Heating topped Hahn's Builders wheel. Wunderlich (42-24) leads the circuit by one game. Bob Schiefelbein rattled a 574 for Gunderson Bakery in Hahn's Brotherhood wheel. Heinritz loop — Herb Downey, 562; Sheet Metal (45-21) leads the Ken Gauerke, 559; Jack Schneider, 559; Harry Selig. Other honor tallies: Cigaret 555.

Gordie Howe Becomes NHL's New Bare Knuckle Champion

New York — "There a punch," conceded Louie after spending the better part of two days in a hospital getting his nose mended. "But if he fools around again, we will go at it again."

The new champ — Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings. The deposed champ but rookie Eddie Shack's head, itching to get back on the throne — Lou Fontinato of the New York Rangers.

Now Fontinato has had the self, "I tells him," said Louie. "Next thing, the two are at it again. The referees stand prominently by as do the members of both teams."

But, sad to say, it was all a myth. This gives the fight time to come to a decision, a rarity in the annals of hockey fights. When it's all over, Louie has Sunday's Detroit-New York game here. Howe is now king. He has a pretty good ex-champ. Howe is unscathed.

Did You Know—North Western Only Left Handed Railway in U.S.?

BY CHARLIE HOUSE

As grandmothers say, there's a reason for everything. There is the natural variety of reasons which have to do with sunrise and sunset, with peanuts and snow, with fire and frost and with trees and tomatoes.

Then there's the other kind of reason: the artificial kind which creates the hog and the tamale — and the southpaw railroad. Such reasons have their roots in history. Example: the North Western railway, only left handed railroad in the United States.

Once vitally important to the development of the state of Wisconsin and to the Fox River valley, the great North Western system is now 110 years old and operates almost 10,000 miles of track with 2,634 miles of it in Wisconsin.

The North Western trains all run on the left track. Its depots and waiting stations were erected to serve its left-handed operation. It has been operated thus since Oct. 25, 1848, when "The Pioneer," Chicago's first railway train, chugged its way westward on its new track only 10 miles long.

It was then called the Galena and Chicago Union Railway and its 10 miles of track was a single line—one track for coming and going.

English, Dutch

The railway had been financed by English and Dutch capital and it was serviced by English and Dutch engineers who were schooled in the left hand system.

This was often true, too, of other U.S. railroads in the early days. All of them were originally left-handed. As the years grew, so did the North Western system. The single track ran farther and farther. Depots and waiting stations were erected on the track's left side.

By 1882, most railroads began double-tracking. With the institution here of the double track, all other railroads changed from the left handed operation to the right which is now standard. But the North Western did not change.

A real pioneer, the North Western railway had already achieved a far-flung system. The depots, waiting stations and loading platforms all had been built to serve the track on the inbound movement. The signal and switch system already operative was for the left hand service.

Advantages Seen

When other railroads changed to the right hand method, its advantages were seen clearly. For other roads, it was a standardization which was to prove valuable.

But the North Western deemed the switchover of their already large system prohibitively expensive. Changing the waiting stations and the loading facilities to the right hand movement would have cost more than the line wished to pay. The cost involved in a change to the right handed system would have to be greater, it was decided, than the advantages.

Herb Elliott Believes 3:54.5 Mile Clocking Can Be Bettered

San Francisco — "Herb Elliott feels his 3:54.5 mile, fastest ever run, can and will be bettered."

"I don't say I can improve it," the Australian wonder miler said. "But there still are a few dead spots in the mile race, intervals when runners aren't striving their utmost. That's why I think it can be improved."

Elliott arrived here Monday en route to Toronto for a sports banquet Wednesday. He will receive a trophy in Milwaukee Feb. 9 for being selected Associated Press athlete of the year.

Cabinet for Film Library Given to College

A cabinet to house a micro-film library for the Lawrence college music - drama center has been given by the Marian Hutchinson McCreey memorial fund. LaVahn Maesch, director of the conservatory, announced.

Mrs. McCreey, a Lawrence alumna with the class of 1926 and subsequently a voice teacher at the conservatory, died in October at her home in Coral Gables, Fla. The fund was established by friends under the chairmanship of Mr. and Mrs. Alden M. Johnston, Appleton, and includes major contributions from Mrs. McCreey's husband, Clinton T., and their two sons, Tom and Bruce.

The microfilm equipment, which will be engraved in Mrs. McCreey's memory, will be located in the seminar room in the George F. Peabody wing of the building. In addition to being a space saver, it brings to the campus a collection of rare manuscripts available only on film. The manuscripts, called the Denkmal collection, include music of the renaissance and baroque in Germany, Bavaria and Austria. They will be available for scholarly use and student analysis.

A second fund has recently been established in memory of E. C. Moore, for more than a quarter century the director of the Lawrence band, who died in January. The nature of that memorial has not been decided.

The Thermometer Registered 22-degrees below zero but water from a tapped spring off County Trunk H between Poy Sippi and Tustin kept flowing despite the frigid conditions. The mound of ice builds as cold weather persists and melts when warmer air comes. The water temperature, as taken by the Post-Crescent photographer, registers about 42 degrees.

Just Like 'Good Old Days' Coldest January Since 1930, Weather Records Indicate

Winters, the man said, just aren't as cold as they used to be. "Why I remember when On two of these days, the 4th and 23rd, the mercury at no time during the 24-hour period went above the zero mark. The 17-day total was second to the 24-day total reached in 1929.

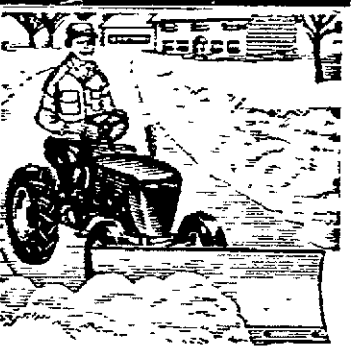

The lowest temperature recorded was 16 degrees below zero on the 23rd. This was something warmer, however, than the 30 below recorded on since 1930 when it was 9.8. The lowest monthly mean on record low 32 below in 1929. But, figures to the contrary, January, 1959, was a cold month. The frigid weather moved in at the outset and remained consistently through the period.

Above Normal
Precipitation was moderately above the monthly normal. The total snowfall of 18.1 inches was exceeded only twice for January in 34 years — 22.3 inches in 1947 and 47.0 inches in 1929. This snow provided ample ground cover for crop protection during the last half of the month.

From a heating degree day standpoint, surpluses accumulated rapidly. The January total amounted to 1,686 compared to only 1,386 a year ago and a January normal of 1,474. As accumulated since the beginning of the heating season the total of 4,677 was about 11 per cent in excess of that for the same period a year ago. Some of this excess reflects the cold weather of December. Heating costs this year are, consequently, considerably higher than those of a year ago.

Farmer Receives Less Than 45 Per Cent of Price Paid for Milk
Bulk of Receipts Go Into Cost Of Processing, Selling, Taxes

Consumers paid one fifth more for a quart of milk in 1957 than they paid in 1947, although the farmer's prices for milk were nearly the same for both years.

10 Cents Less
 Farmers in 1957 got about 45 cents out of each dollar spent by consumers for milk, compared with 55 cents in 1947. The change was due almost entirely to increases in marketing costs.

Despite the increase in price, milk is still one of the cheapest foods in terms of food value. Its quality has been improved in recent years because it is produced under more sanitary conditions. Nearly all of it is pasteurized, much of it is homogenized and has vitamin D added, and it is kept cooler during marketing.

By the end of November all fluid milk sold to consumers in Wisconsin will come from closely inspected Grade A farms and dairies.

Steadily Upward
 There are three major steps in the trip from farm to consumer: assembling milk from farms and taking it to dairies, processing and bottling it, and distributing it to consumers. The price of milk may rise and fall as far as the farmer is concerned, the other two factors keep a steady cost with variations only upwards.

Milk must be kept clean and cool and moved quickly if the quality is to be preserved. Thousands of trucks travel many miles each day to gather milk from farms and haul it to processing plants.

This assembly operation in 1957 took about 5 cents of each dollar spent by consumers for milk. Most of the cost is in buying, maintaining and fueling the trucks and paying wages to the drivers.

Sanitation Expense
 When the milk arrives at the plant, it is immediately put under refrigeration. And it is kept clean and sanitary, at much expense. After pasteurization and other processing, it is bottled and sent on its way to the consumer.

The payroll is the principal cost item here although plant equipment has been improved in the last few years as the Grade A movement spread across the states.

Included in this processing category are payroll, equipment, repairs, insurance and property taxes. All of this took about 18 cents of the consumer's dollar in 1957.

Distribution to the consumer cost 23 cents on the dollar, chiefly in payrolls.

UW Reports: Sheep Farmers Progress In Improvement Program

Madison — Wisconsin sheep producers are making progress in flock improvements, judging from 1958 results of the Wisconsin sheep improvement program.

Vern Felts, University of Wisconsin animal husbandman, reports a steady increase in pounds of lamb and pounds of wool produced by flocks in the program.

One hundred fifty flocks were in the test this year. The program was set up by the University to test flock production on the farm. Producers keep records of lamb birth date and fleece weights. Lambs are weighed at four months by field men. Production records are then used to select the particular animals for the farm breeding flock.

Lamb Weights
 Felts says this year individual lambs weighed 73 pounds at four months. Twins averaged 68 pounds. This is about 44 pounds above the average last year. In eight years of testing, single lamb average has increased some 11 pounds per lamb. Twins have gained about 9 pounds more, on the average.

Figure it another way, says Felts. This year flocks under test produced three tenths pound more wool this year than last, with an average of just over eight pounds.

Felts reports a wide variation from the top to the bottom in flocks tested. This year in the top one quarter of the flocks, single lambs average 92 pounds at four months. Singles in the low quarter averaged 60 pounds. Ewes in the top quarter were responsible for some 124 pounds of lambs. Ewes in the lower quarter were responsible for 70 pounds of lambs.

Breeding Improvement
 He points out there's still considerable room for breeding improvement of our farm flocks. This is possible, he concludes, because of the steady improvement we have already made and the wide difference in production performance of ewes and lambs given the same feed and care.

There are other benefits as a result of the improvement as shown by the records of the program, he says. Lambs are going to market sooner, usually at a better price. Death losses are down because of the shorter growing and fattening period. Labor costs are lower because the lambs spend less time on the farm.

Meat Prices Show Boost

Wisconsin Index Up 2 Per Cent From 1957 Total

Madison — Meat animal prices received by Wisconsin farmers continue to maintain the farm product price index above a year ago, according to the federal-state crop reporting service. Prices received by farmers for milk, poultry, eggs, and crops are all lower than last fall.

Wisconsin's index of prices received by farmers was 2 per cent higher than a year ago. The ratio of prices received to prices paid shows a gain of 1 per cent over November, 1957.

All Higher
 Prices received by farmers for hogs, calves, and beef cattle are all above a year ago and sheep and lamb prices show no change. The meat animal price index is up 23 per cent from a year ago, but the index figures are down 4 per cent for milk, 13 per cent for poultry, 17 per cent for eggs, and 8 per cent for crops. The losses in these prices partially offset the sharp gain in the meat animal price index.

Prices received for milk sold by Wisconsin farmers in averaged $3.45 per hundred pounds of milk of average test or 15 cents below the November, 1957 average, lowest price for the month since 1954. Hog prices are the highest since 1954; beef cattle prices are the highest since 1951; and calf prices are the highest since 1952. While egg prices are the lowest in two years. Chicken prices are below any November average since 1941.

Agent's Advice Lights in Hen House Mean More Eggs During Winter

BY JOHN E. POWERS
 Outagamie County Agent

Light up the hen in the chicken house to get more eggs in the winter!

Research at Purdue university indicates it is not because the hen is given a longer working day that egg production increases; it is because certain rays of light are absorbed by the hen. These rays stimulate the hens' glands which in turn stimulate greater production.

The Purdue test recommends lights in the laying tilation. The big job in fall house must be placed where the hens will reserve the most excess moisture. Keep the rays. Since the hens normally spend a large share of their time at the feeders and waterers, most of the lights should be suspended directly over close or adjust openings in the these areas. A 40-watt bulb for every 10 to 12 feet of feeder can supply enough light. Additional light should be used in the house to eliminate dark corners and shadows. A reflector should be used with each bulb. Bulbs should be dusted periodically because dust can reduce the strength of the light rays.

It makes little difference to the hen whether the lights are turned on in the morning, evening, or let burn all night.

With winter approaching, the hens should be properly hardened for the cold weather. The secret is proper ventilation. The big job in fall house must be placed where the hens will reserve the most excess moisture. Keep the south windows open wide until the water begins to freeze in the house. Close the north side of the laying house and be suspended directly over close or adjust openings in the these areas. A 40-watt bulb for every 10 to 12 feet of feed-

State Congressmen Back Bill to Push Free Flow of Milk

Six Republicans and Democrats Unite in Bi-Partisan Effort

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington — Three Republican and three Democratic members of the Wisconsin house delegation joined hands in cosponsoring a bill aimed at promoting the free flow of Wisconsin fluid milk in interstate commerce.

The measure, which establishes a uniform national standards of sanitation, was introduced jointly by Reps. Robert W. Kastenmeier, Watertown, General T. Flynn, Racine, and Lester R. Johnson, Black River Falls, all Democrats and Reps. John W. Byrnes, Green Bay, Melvin R. Laird, Marshfield, and William K. Van Pelt, Fond du Lac, all Republicans.

Bi-Partisan

Much of the work on the legislation is the result of the bi-partisan efforts of Laird and Johnson.

As explained by Laird, the bill sets up national standards of sanitation for milk producers which will be worked out by the public health service and administered by the individual states.

"As the situation now stands, individual states have certain regulations which preclude the shipment of Wisconsin milk into the area," Laird said. "For instance, Washington, D.C., insists that milk houses have only one window.

About the only milk producers who qualify in this respect are those in the surrounding areas in Virginia and Maryland. In another case, a state will require that no windows be allowed in milk houses.

Such regulations are merely artificial barriers set up to prevent purchase of milk from Wisconsin or other states outside the traditional monopolistic milk shed."

Great Help

Stressing that "only about 15 percent of the fluid milk produced in Wisconsin can be consumed within the state," Laird said that passage of the new milk-standards bill would be of great help to the dairy farmer because then he would have a market for his fluid milk in out of state markets, and would not have to sell it for conversion to cheese, butter, or other manufactured products.

Consumers in the large metropolitan areas throughout the country would benefit through a lower price in milk in the grocery stores if the bill is passed, Laird pointed out, because fluid milk can be produced more cheaply in Wisconsin than in most states.

During the last congress, several bills were introduced, but never enacted, to remove trade barriers on interstate shipment of fluid milk.

"This year, Wisconsin congressmen are united in a bi-partisan effort to endorse one single milk standards bill," Laird declared.

Thomas A. Bowe, Route 1, Hilbert, looks at one of his recent inventions—a cylinder substituted for the bottom beater on a forage unloader. Bowe, head of a farm equipment manufacturing company, says the cylinder prevents forage from being dragged back into the unloader.

Starts Production

Rural Hilbert Man Invents New Farm Equipment Device

A rural Hilbert man has made an inventive mind and a good pair of hands pay off over the years.

At 65 Thomas A. Bowe, head of the Bowe Manufacturing company, has come up with another equipment development designed to make farming easier.

He has patented and produced a cylindrical roller as a substitute for the bottom beater on his self-propelled forage unloader.

The idea came to Bowe while he was demonstrating unloading wilted hay. He noticed that the bottom beater had a tendency to drag forage back under and into the unloader.

Substitutes Cylinder

Why not, thought Bowe, substitute a cylinder for the bottom beater?

Instead of a beater, and with an end gate instead of an endless apron, the hay could be brought against the roller and rolled out over the top.

His first trial with a crude roller convinced him he was right.

Bowe got his patent and began production. Dozens of farmers have used his demonstrator racks and found that it functioned perfectly, the inventor says.

Choice Beef Steer Prices Show Boost

Madison — Choice beef steers are selling for about $2 higher per hundred pounds than a year ago. But young feeder cattle are bringing $6 above a year ago as they go into the feedlot.

This points up the problem in the beef industry in the Midwest for 1959, says Robert Reiersen, University of Wisconsin farm management specialist.

Any profits a beef feeder makes will have to come mainly from the feeding margin, says Reiersen. He figures the best profits will be made on long feeding of high-quality cattle. Efficient feeding will play a part.

The demand, and the price for feeder cattle will remain high through the year. Feed grain prices should be a little lower this coming year, due to heavy supplies.

Cattle are on the increase on the nation's farms, says Reiersen. But this probably won't be reflected in a lower price for the housewife until 1960, he says.

He points out that in recent years the supply of beef has had more effect on the price a housewife pays than has the income of the consumer. Money consumers paid for beef increased in the face of the recent recession.

39 Swine Consigned To Annual Sale

Chilton — A total of 39 head of purebred swine will be offered at the annual bred gilt and boar sale sponsored by Calumet county swine breeders at the fairgrounds Feb. 23.

Consignments include 24 bred gilts and 15 boars. Breeds represented will be Berkshires, Chester, Durocs, Hampshires, Montanas, Poland Chinas, Spotted Polands and Yorkshires.

Outlook Good For Timber Product Prices

Sawing Stumpage Income Should be Better This Winter

Madison — The price outlook for timber products in Wisconsin this winter looks good. The demand should be strong in most cases, says Fred Trenk, University of Wisconsin forester.

The outlook is based on a semi-annual forest products price report compiled by the Wisconsin Conservation department, and Wisconsin wood-using industries. Many mills do not expect to start sawing stumps until late in winter, but operators report a steady market for the material.

says Trenk. Prices will be about the same as last spring. There's some difficulty in moving lower quality timber, he says, and this will be reflected in a lower price.

Top Prices

Sawlog and veneer prices are expected to hold through the winter months, with a possible improved demand. High quality logs will continue to receive top prices.

The pulpwood industry reports that prices will hold firm through the winter months. Some mills still have high inventories on hand in the storage yards. Their purchases will be covered by contracts.

Trenk reports the demand for boxes is uncertain. Cheesebox production has fallen off. The operators report a steady market for the material.

Loss Ratio Low for State Milk Producers

Consolidations in Processing Industry Have Little Effect

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — The era of rapid consolidations in the Wisconsin dairy processing industry has brought a very low ratio of losses to dairy producers, in spite of the huge volumes of unsecured credit extended by the farmers.

The comforting report was presented to the legislature by the state department of agriculture which administers the dairy plant financial security law enacted many years ago to reduce losses to farmers when processing plants were forced to close. The law requires periodic audits of plants, and the filing of bonds with the state when the auditors find the circumstances warrant it.

Losses Negligible

Dairy plants have been reduced in number at the rate of about 100 a year through the last decade, by reason of voluntary closings, mergers and consolidations. But the losses to farmers resulting have been negligible — only about five thousandths of 1 per cent of the average annual milk payroll to farmers, the department disclosed.

The state laws provide the same kind of financial security supervision for food processors buying produce directly from farmers on credit.

That regulatory group included about 340 licenses last year, including canners of peas, corn, beans, beets, sauerkraut, carrots and other canning crops, meat processors, honey and maple syrup packers, egg breakers and others.

In discussing the program of supervision of dairy plants, the state agency report told lawmakers that "dairy plants appear to be improving business procedures and strengthening financial policies."

"Improved financial and operating analysis on the part of plant management has meant that changing times have been recognized earlier so major organizational realignments can be made in time and on a more favorable basis."

While visiting India he viewed a nation, where the farming is still in the ox and manpower stage.

Farm machinery may be a long time in taking hold in India, Wieckert told the Kiwanians.

A modern farm machine is apt to throw a dozen men out of work and the nation has little industry to absorb them.

Council Control of School Jobs Asked

Recommend Aldermen Pass Plans Before and After Taking of Bids

The city council will tighten its control of public school construction if it accepts the recommendation of the board of public works.

Acting on the basis of an opinion from City Attorney Don Jury, the board Tuesday approved a resolution calling for the council to examine and approve plans and specifications for proposed new schools before any approval bond is issued for a new school.

The resolution also requires that sale of bonds for new school construction be withheld until construction bids are in, accepted and confirmed by the council. Such bids, the resolution reads, must be firm bids for 90 days after opening.

Informal Meetings
The board of education has never sought council approval of plans and specifications, except in informal meetings with some aldermen, nor has the council ever officially required it.

Bids once taken also never have been sent the council or been sought by the council. Bonds sometimes have been sold in advance of bids, but this was stopped when more than $300,000 surplus turned up from a bond issue for Lincoln and Richmond schools.

Jury's opinion was issued in answer to a resolution submitted by Alderman Alvin E. Tews regarding school construction. The city attorney said that in the light of state laws and specifications should be approved by the common council.

Jury said the statutes delegate the powers of the board of public works to the school board in matters pertaining to the construction of schools. The works board, he said, does not have the power to enter into contracts for construction of buildings without first having the approval of the council. "This, therefore, must govern the school board as well," the city attorney's opinion stated.

Waupaca Sells County Farm to Manawa

Firm for $47,500
Waupaca — The Waupaca County Home and Farm near Manawa was sold for $47,500 Tuesday to the Manawa Sales company, Manawa.
It was the highest of three bidders allowed to participate in oral competition after previously submitting written bids. The written bids were submitted by Manawa Sales, $45,000; Radtke Real Estate, New London, $35,000, and the Gilson Realty, Wrightstown, $5,000.
Bidding started at $45,500 and climbed slowly to the top price. A county home committee majority approved the sale.
